Dear Sir: I am sending you under separate cover a No. 9, 11/16 "MEPHISTO" Bit which I was using when I struck a nail. I forced the bit through—it cut the nail off and the nail came out wound around the worm of the bit. I am an electrician and use a good many bits, but have never found any that would stand up the way the "MEPHISTO" Bits do. This bit I am sending you is practically unhurt despite its experience.

You may use this as a testimonial if you wish.

Respectfully yours,

From "Revolution" to Injunction

In 1905 a great noise was heard in the industrial world—heralding the advent of a new savior of Labor. This savior yearned after big deeds and dreamed great dreams and proclaimed great reforms. Everything connected with this new idea was "big"—the industrial workers of all lands were to be organized upon a world scale. "One Big Union" was to encompass all industry—one big union, mighty to do and dare.

But the idea was so big and so vague and so intangible that harnessing it to practical uses was very much akin to trying to use a rainbow for a dyepot. The spokes of the "big wheel" were tangled in the machinery for adjusting industrial relations and became an unmanageable buzzsaw in the evolution of industrial welfare.

The industrial revolutionists scorned simple, methodical policies and proclaimed direct action as the only method. They sang of that glorious free spirit which took that of which it had need—took regardless of let or hindrance. Direct actionists avowed the morals and the methods of primitive, uncomplicated life. They gloried in their power and their freedom from conventional regulations or standards.

These things they avowed. What they have done is well illustrated by an incident that recently happened in Boston.

The "Industrial Workers of the World" sought to gather the common laborers under their wing in one big union—the "I. W. W." has always presented as the greatest justification for its existence effective work in organizing the unskilled.

But the unskilled of Boston did not heed the allurements of the one big union—they made evident their preference for the International Hodcarriers and Common Laborers' Union of America, an international that had developed such skill in organization that it secured for unskilled workers wages larger than those received by unorganized skilled workers and some members of professions.

When the I. W. W. found themselves powerless before this local difficulty in Boston, did they take the "short cut," apply direct action and triumph gloriously over great difficulties? Did they give reality to the inspiring ideal of universal brotherhood? Did they center their united forces upon the one objective, each for all, and all for each?

The I. W. W. sought a pettifogging lawyer who consented to take their case for a consideration, and after the manner of D. E. Loewe Company, Hitchman Coal and Coke Company of West Virginia, the Anti-Boycott Association, instituted legal proceedings against Union 205 of the International Hodcarriers and Common Laborers on the ground that they constituted an illegal conspiracy and asked a friendly judge to please give them an injunction restraining their fellowworkers of the universal brotherhood!

These industrial workers boasted like industrial Don Quixotes—they proclaimed an industrial spirit akin to that of the chivalrous ideals when knighthood was in flower.

The boasted deeds—they besought the court for an injunction—yes, a real, genuine, dyed in the wool injunction.

They proclaimed themselves the saviors of the workers, were like the mountain of old that travailed in great pain and brought forth a mouse. The injunction was applied for and later denied and the Boston Laborers' Union is now on its road for better protection and the promotion of the rights and interests of the workers. Now, the I. W. W. will go on howling for another "One Big Union," then "Bust" it and later appeal to the "capitalistic" courts for more injunctions. And there you are! —(Am. Fed.)

PRACTICAL HINTS

The ordinary metal molding will carry four number fourteen, single braid rubber covered wires.

The right kind of a hacksaw blade for cutting metal molding is one with fine teeth. A blade with fine teeth will ride the moulding and prevent stalling or catching. This hint will save blades and time on a fair sized job.

Many wiremen use a three-cornered file for cutting metal molding, using a small piece of capping as a file guide. The base or capping is marked with the file deep enough to break it off.

With care metal molding can be bent to any radius down to four inches.

The base and capping should never be bent separately, always snap them together first.

Metal molding makes a neat job for extra wiring in a finished building where open work is required.

For bank wiring metal molding is being almost exclusively used for wiring for lights, fans, adding machines and electrical bank appliances.

The heights of center of wall outlets (unless otherwise specified) for electric wiring:

Living room, 5 feet, 6 inches; Chambers, 6 feet; Offices, 6 feet; and corridors, 6 feet, 3 inches.

Heights of switches unless otherwise specified, 4 feet.

In hotels it is advisable to arrange the lighting in such a manner that by no chance may all of the lights on any floor be out of service at the same time. To avoid this, mains may be run separately for each vertical half of the building, or in a small building all of the branch circuits may be carried to short run junction boxes, which control part of a floor.

Apartment building should be wired, if possible, so that the meter is in the basement. This will avoid annoyance from humming of meters and also from meter readers and trouble men.

An induction motor field or stator is usually wound either three phase or quarter phase. The armature or rotor may be wound similarly, or may have no definite winding, consisting simply of single bars located in slots and connected on the ends with a conducting ring.

For a given output, three phase machines are smaller than single phase machines and the single phase load can be approximately balanced between the three phases.

The three phase system is universally used for long distance transmission, because it requires less copper than either the single or two phase systems. For distribution, however, the two-phase system presents certain advantages, thus, it becomes desirable at the distribution centers to change from three phase to two phase.

The saving in cost of transmission obtained by using alternating instead of direct current is not due to any difference in the characteristics of the currents themselves, but to the fact that in the case of alternating current very high pressures may be employed, thus permitting a given amount of energy to be transmitted with a relatively small current.

The standard voltages for alternating current transmission range from 2,320 to 150,000 volts.

The highest voltage for which alternatives are built is 13,200 volts. Step-up transformers are then used to raise the voltage to the desired pressure.

Storage batteries are used in connection with isolated or central stations to supply current when dynamos are running, as well as at the hours of the heaviest load when perhaps the capacity of the dynamos may not be fully equal to the demands made upon them.

Shortly after the introduction of the tantalum lamp, a still greater advance was made by bringing out the Tungsten lamp. Tungsten, another of the rare metals, is in its electrical behavior similar to the tantalum but for use as a filament it surpasses tantalum, owing to the fact that its melting point is considerably higher.

The gas-filled lamp is taking the place of many types of arc lamps which were used for general lighting purposes. The gas filled lamp is much cheaper to operate, it gives a steady light.

A tungstometer is a measuring device to record the wattage consumption of tungsten and ordinary filament lamps.

When a number of plain shunt machines are to work on the same installation, it is best to divide the system and give each machine a share of it. If this cannot be done, the voltage of the two machines must be constantly watched and adjusted by means of a rheostat.

As all armatures have some resistance it follows that the potential at the brushes of any shunt dynamo must fall as the current increases. To compensate for this a special winding through which the whole dynamo current flows is used upon the fields in addition to the shunt winding.

Power Factor Indicators.—Meters of this class indicate the phase relationship between pressure and the current, and are therefore sometimes called phase indicators.

The essential parts of a watt hour meter are the motor, generator, and counting mechanism.

A repulsion motor is a type of single phase motor which has a considerable starting torque. Such motors are not practical because of commutation difficulties and their so-called series characteristics.

An induction motor should be run as near its proper voltage as possible as the out-put and torque are directly proportional to the square of the primary pressure. An induction motor develops its greatest torque on starting, and its least when running in step with its rotating field. If it be over loaded, it will slow down until the induced currents in the armature are sufficient to carry the load.

The induction motor depends for its operation upon the rotating field. This rotating field tends to carry the rotor around with it and does so by inducing currents in the windings of the bars of the rotor.

The ordinary squirrel-cage induction motor, if connected directly to the line, will require from 3 to 10 times the full load current if starting under load and the starting torque will be from 1 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ times full load torque.

For motors with squirrel-cage armatures either auto transformers or resistances may be used to limit the current in the primary.

Multiple switchboard for telephone centrals are built of all sizes. Standard size sections are built for a total of 3,000, 5,400, 10,400 and 18,000 lines.

For all exchanges with an ultimate capacity of less than 3000 lines, the standard 2000 line section is most suitable.

The number of lines that should be handled by an operator depends on local conditions. If the lines are principally located in a business district about forty lines will keep an operator busy. Lines from a residence section are ordinarily not so severe on an operator and are as a rule easier to handle.

In public schools of electrical instruction in many cities the pupils are instructed in telephone courtesy. They are told how to attract the operator, how to talk so the operator will understand them and to never raise their voice above a distinct conversational tone.

Line Construction Notes.

In selecting the style of pole necessary for a certain class of work, the conditions and circumstances, should be considered.

Poles may be divided into three classes, the size of wire to be carried being one of the most important considerations.

First.—Main line of poles should range in length from thirty to thirty-five feet with six inch tops. The height of the trees, of course should be considered in many cases.

Second Class.—Town lighting by arc lights. All poles should have at least six inch tops. The corner poles should have at least six and one half inch tops, and wherever cross arms are placed on a pole at different angles, the pole should have at least a six and one-half inch top. A thirty foot pole is sufficiently long for the main line, but it would be advisable to place thirty-five foot poles on corners.

Third Class.—Where heavy wire, such as No 00, is used for feeder wires, the poles should have at least seven inch tops. Where mains are run on the same pole line the strain is somewhat lessened, and poles of smaller size will answer.

Call Poles.—All poles that are smaller at the top than the sizes agreed upon, or are troubled with dry rot, large knots or bumps, have more than one bend or have a sweep of twelve inches, should be certainly classed as cull poles. Specifications for electric light and power work should be, and in many cases are, much more severe than those required for telegraph work. A cull pole, one of good material, is the best thing for a guy stub, and is frequently used for this purpose. A cedar pole is always preferable to any other, owing to the fact that it is very light in comparison to other timber, and is very strong, durable, and very long lived.

Pole Setting.—In erecting poles, it seems to be the universal opinion of the best posted construction men that a pole should be set at least five feet in the ground, and six inches deeper for every five feet additional length above thirty-five feet; also additional depths on corners. Wherever there is much moisture in the ground, it is of much value to paint or smear the buttends of the pole with pitch or tar, allowing this to extend about two feet above the level of the ground. This protects the pole from rot at the base. The weakest part of the pole is just where it enters the ground. Never set poles further than 125 feet apart; one hundred and ten feet is good practice.

THE MAN WHO DOES HIS BEST.

The almighty dollar lures us on;
With faltering step, we daily climb,
The ladder that carries its human load,
Unlightened, by the stroke of time.

Each one striving to gain an advantage,
With no thought of the fellow below;
Eyes firmly fixed, on the goal of success,
Where the score sheets of progress show.

A push or a pull, sometimes help a great deal,
To the fellow without any "pep,"
For many a man is now resting on top;
Who has gained for himself, ne'er a step.

But a pull, will not keep the weakling on top,
When it comes to the almighty test;
The man most admired, whether he gets there or not,
Is the man who does his best.

EDITORIAL

DEFEND OUR JURISDICTION.

One of the most important questions confronting our organization is the jurisdictional invasions that several organizations of labor are attempting.

It is our duty to resist these unfair and unwarranted intrusions by every means at our command, the electrical field seems to hold attractions that are sufficiently inviting to induce several organizations to attempt to appropriate certain branches of our trade for themselves, the success of their efforts will depend solely upon the Brotherhood's membership, if we stand idly by and permit other organizations to grab off a portion of what rightfully belongs to us, we have no one to blame but ourselves.

We have no desire to quarrel with anyone. Our chief aim is to mind our own business respect the jurisdiction rights of others and not interfere with other organizations in their pursuit of better wages and conditions.

There is a possibility—that our organization has been too indifferent in this respect and the present attitude of certain organizations rather leads us to believe they misunderstand our passiveness to the extent that they have formed the opinion that we will not defend our rights and that they can trample them under foot at their pleasure. If this is the case they are badly mistaken for we are determined to control electrical work for electrical workers no matter what the cost may be and irrespective of whom it pleases or displeases. One concrete example of our efforts to adjust these questions by peaceful means is shown in the patience we have displayed with I. A. T. S. E. or "Stage Employees," organization. Our efforts to settle our differences with this organization extends over a period of nearly ten years. We have entered into three different agreements with them. These agreements received the approval of labors highest tribunal the A. F. of L. but notwithstanding this fact each and everyone was disregarded by the other party and openly violated; patience has ceased to be a virtue with us. On such matters we have long submitted to encroachments by others with the hope of eventually bringing about adjustments by conferences or other conciliatory methods, but these have failed. So from now on let every member be ready and willing to fight for the rights of the Electrical Worker. Don't be afraid of hurting the other fellows feeling. Keep in mind the fact that this question is a purely business matter.

Many of our members carry the opinion that our Brotherhood has agreements with some organizations that confer upon those organizations the privilege to do electrical work. Get this out of your head immediately as there are no agreements ~~existing~~ which confers this right to any other organization.

Our charter rights gives us jurisdiction over all electrical work and it is our duty to see those rights respected. The St. Paul convention took a positive position on these matters so now it is up to the general membership to do likewise. We know if every member will do their duty that the near future will prove that those who are now showing contempt for our rights will change their views and entertain a wholesome respect for the I. B. E. W.

"IT'S OVER." The thirteenth regular convention has closed and now stands as part of the Brotherhood's history. Fifteen days of discussion was considered necessary by those attending to dispose of the various matters up for consideration, therefore, it would seem there remains little cause for any one to complain that they did not have an opportunity to discuss their pet propositions or that "gag" rule prevailed.

Much progressive legislation was considered and will be submitted to the members for approval or rejection by referendum. Among some of the important measures proposed is the establishing of a difficulty and total disability benefit. These, if adopted, will prove to be valuable additions to our present benefits. The difficulty benefit has long been advocated and experience has shown us the necessity of providing for those of our members who are called upon to resist unfair employers.

The convention was as liberal as our finances would permit in voting assistance to local unions involved in difficulty. The large number of requests for aid received further demonstrates the need of a defense fund and the payment of a difficulty benefit, if the proposed establishment of this feature does not meet with the approval of the general membership. We at least can feel we are not responsible, for a sincere effort was made to place the matter in all its important phases before the convention and we are satisfied the delegates on their return will do likewise in their respective local unions.

Many incidents, both humorous and serious occurred to momentarily attract the serious minded delegates from the important matters they were particularly interested in, these incidents covered almost every range of action from rides in Bro. Fishers "Doc Yac" to side show attractions that some one hundred odd delegates participated in, an endeavor it is claimed to make the other fellow see the merit of certain proposed legislation, aside from a few unpleasant incidents, we believe the convention will be voted a success by nearly all especially the ladies who attended both as delegates and visitors. Incidentally the successful candidates for office we presume consider it a great success, at all events that is the way the writer feels and believes that same feeling quite accurately quotes the sentiment of his associate officials.

Now that the convention is a matter of history we hope and believe that every member will do their utmost to serve the best interest of the Brotherhood. If all officers and members do this we cannot but help to make progress during the coming two years, so let our slogan be "Boost" not "Knock."

SCHEECTADY'S EIGHT HOUR STRIKE. The employees of the General Electric Co., are at the present time involved in a strike for an eight hour work day, their efforts are meeting the usual resistance displayed by employers who cannot see the advantage or justice of shorter hours of toil.

Not one sound argument has been advanced by the Company against the establishment of a shorter work day, the only one is it will reduce earnings and affect dividends. Economic history shows this contention untrue and wholly without merit, but still it is the same old shop worn argument that is always trotted out with the hopes of convincing the employee that to enforce this equitable order of employment would be business suicide. This claim is having just about as much effect today upon the American toiler as the full dinner pail campaign slogan which was so effectively used upon the voting public a few years back has in present day elections and the men and women of toil have decided to obtain for themselves that which is due them. No corporation can permanently resist this just request and the General Electric Company will not prove an exception to the rule. This firm has long recognized the necessity of a short work day for their office employees who are only required to work 44½ hours per week and number several thousand. We are glad of this and believe the treatment accorded the office employees is proper and do not envy them their more favorable conditions and the factory employees would at all times stand ready to assist them to make further improvements, but at the same time believe they are entitled to equal consideration. We desire to quote the argument advanced by the company for establishing better conditions for the office employees. These arguments in substance are that office work is largely brain work and that it is a universal condition for shorter hours in office than factory. Well this can be as it may but the toiler intends to establish for himself conditions second to none therefore the employees of the General Electric Company have taken the initiative in establishing a new universal order of things in the factory where brains and brawn both are necessary.

Our membership involved in this difficulty numbers about three thousand and the general membership of our organization have an opportunity of rendering valuable assistance to them, for the products of this giant electrical corporation reaches every city, village and hamlet in the country and every member of the Brotherhood has an opportunity of giving this firm's product the treatment it deserves until they show that they are entitled to favorable consideration from the labor movement.

Millions and millions of dollars worth of business has reached this company on account of their Schenectady factory being organized.

The company is well aware of this fact and believe that a general knowledge of their present attitude will not be made public for as usual the press of the country gives a very small amount of space to the difficulty and endeavors to conceal the true facts, so if every member of organized labor will give the strike publicity we know the effect will be valuable to our members employed by this concern. This is your duty, so do it without hesitation.

WE ARE This issue will reach our readers somewhat later than usual LATE, and we hope they will bear with us and be patient as possible. Remember we are just human, we could not devote our time to routine business for the past four weeks, as all our time was taken up by convention matters which are in themselves enough to keep us very busy for some time to come, for don't lose sight of the fact that referendums must be prepared and submitted, accumulated business to be disposed of and then sandwich in sufficient time to get out an edition of our Journal. So kindly permit us to draw a little more than usual on your patience.

L. U. NO. 1, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Editor:

Local Union No. 1, I. B. E. W., are still loyal to the labor movement, and are manifest in more ways than one. The membership has pleasant controversies and try to make life and toil less of a burden. With all others attempting to steal the benefits acquired by hard labor and pecuniary investments Local Union No. 1 is busy on the firing line. The battle is not only with the bosses, but with unscrupulous members of the labor cause. In fact our fair city seems to be infested with employers stool pigeons. Too many causes of dispute arising in our noble cause, is but evidence of outside influences. If the rank and file of unions will but figure things as they appear, they will see that internal strife, but weakens our cause. When union men get to fighting among themselves, then the enemy places their best batteries in the most effective positions, and administers dire results. Read up and define the meaning of union and justice, and you will find your views changed. Remember your officers are selected by a majority and that majority should rule, if you wish harmony, and that discord loses more for the cause than it gains. Don't let anyone do your thinking for you, and don't get the idea into your head, that you are infallible. Mistakes occur in the best regulated calling. The ladies or better sisters are giving you good evidence of true unionism. From time immemorial they have been considered the weaker sex, therefore they deserve great credit for accomplishing as much as they have, to better their working conditions. Exceeding hard times seems to be gradually retiring to the back ground, but St. Louis has no boom in sight. Things in the line of work are some better, but No. 1 has a number of unemployed members yet.

We have been blessed within the last month with visits of some of the bright and snappy representative officers and members of the I. B. E. W. Brother Ray Cleary ran down among us, and as usual with his good advice and determined manner placed us on the right road to success in several undertakings. The one sign that always shines bright for him is "Welcome."

Brother F. J. Marion of Local Union No. 6 came, but made his stay too short. His address to Local Union No. 1 manifested much study on his part and suggested many good reforms, that will be taken up soon. If No. 6 has any other members coming this way, instruct them to see No. 1 and their welcome I will assure.

Handsome Brother Frank Sweek is here and although he is not like the rose a thing of beauty, his work is effective. The girls don't think him pretty, but all love him, for they know he is good. The troubles he is guiding No. 1 through have drawn the most skeptical to our side, and we rest assured of success. More power to Frank.

The International convention will have finished its deliberations by the time this appears. I am satisfied that justice will be distributed to all.

One controversy in No. 1 is their dealings with the stork. I have mentioned some of the most pronounced deals, but am now pleased to say a new record has been made by Brother and Mrs. H. J. Beefe. Nine and one-half pounds was the record until Brother Beefe was called in to greet an eleven-pound arrival and a girl at that. Just see how the girls are getting prominent in the movement. I saw the baby and formed some antipathy toward her, because she has more hair on her head at the beginning of life than I have after all the years and money spent by me, to acquire. Just watch Evelyn Beefe grow.

Our sick list is very small.

Charity is a pleasure to distribute, and all should be inclined that way, but in giving be cautious, for although misfortune and ages causes many to lose their ability to cope with conditions as they apply, it does not destroy justifiable pride. Many older members who have given the best part of their lives to better your condition are still able to earn a livelihood if the younger element will only render some assistance. When you allow the employer to continue placing valuation on your services you place the older men at a disadvantage. The old task system is a menace that should be overcome. Give them a good honest day's work, but at the same time exact a good day's pay. Pull together, and overcome obstacles that single handed would be impossible.

Hoping to live long enough to see the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers with a membership of 100,000 and in full control of all electrical work.

I am

Yours fraternally,
Bald,

Editor:

The Press Secretary of Local No. 2 finds it a very hard matter to collect enough data to write an article of much importance this issue. Conditions in and around St. Louis are about the same as they have been for the past year. The members of our local are very nearly all working, but work around here is scarce and uncertain.

I desire at this time to inform the members of our organization a great many of who know and are personally acquainted with the brother mentioned below, that Pete Clark, who at present has his card in Local No. 283 of Oakland, Cal., came in here and after spending several weeks in search of work finally landed a job with the Laclede Gas Co. The second day at work which was the 21st of September, he fell about ten feet and landed on an iron man-hole cover, breaking his elbow. He is at present confined at St. Mary's Hospital of this city, and is bearing up well under the ordeal.

The convention is still in session at this writing and as yet we have learned nothing of what they have done which would make the subject to write about. We have an organizer in here at present and are planning to keep him here indefinitely as there is a lot of work to be done in this field. Conditions are such that if we do not take a hold of the work there is to be done, we will find that instead of gaining we are slipping. I will not write any more this issue, but will save what little energy I have and try and write a better article for the November issue.

With best wishes to the members of the Brotherhood, I am

Fraternally yours,
M. C. Schwenk,
Press Secretary, Local No. 2.

L. U. NO. 22, OMAHA, NEB.

Editor:

I wil try and write a few lines so I can hold my job as Press Secretary. The work is picking up a little here, but we are receiving so many travelers that there are too many men here for the work so if any one gets a letter or hears that there is men wanted in Omaha, just forget it as some of the contractors have been sending such word broadcast because Local Union No. 22 is trying to get better conditions. If you want to scab or work with non-union men you are the men they want, as our members have refused to do so; hence the call for men.

Every member should read the editorials of the September Worker. The subject Wrongs that should be righted should appeal to every union man in the Brotherhood and all other members, also.

We understand that the I. C. is a very busy place and hope that now we will have some understanding that will make a better Brotherhood and one that will give all good union men an equal chance all over the country and make those that are only card men sit up and take notice or beat it back to the woods.

Yours fraternally,
J. P. Brown,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 58, DETROIT, MICH.

Editor:

Thanks for the space that you gave me in the last Worker, but you made, quite an error in regards to the Labor Day parade, you had only fifty members in line of march, whereas, we had almost that many cripples turn out. Now, brothers, we had about four hundred and fifty (450) turn out as you know that we had a fine on any member that did not march, and I tell you it took a doctor's certificate for an excuse, also the line men.

Local No. 17 was in line with us so you see we had an awful turn-out. We also had a float in the parade an automobile, fixed up as a wireless lighting plant, driven by Brother Aseentine, assistant Business Agent. Brother Watson, our Business Agent, being grand marshal of the day. So you see we aren't so slow. We have two automobiles for our Business Agents so you can see with what strides we are going to the front. I would have had nothing more to say about Labor Day, only the boys were going to mob me about the fifty men being in the parade.

We received only one letter from our delegate and they had nothing to say as to the convention. Our brothers, Tillman and Spott, have returned from selling I. B. E. W. pennants and they said things were going along slowly. Our delegates, Brothers Watson, Ismond and Harris, were notified by telegram that they were instructed to vote for a district council as our boys are all in favor of it.

Brother C. C. Killen has returned from the West Coast and the boys were sure glad to see him as he has been a staunch member in our local, even in our darkest days. Our clerk we have in the office, Frank Leach, who has been a great cripple from a fall off a ladder, has been in the hospital for some time, as he went under an operation and from all reports now and you probably will hear more is going to get well. I will have to close from me when our delegates return

Work here has been fairly good, as all the boys seem to keep working. We have only one big building going up twenty-six stories and it is all up and the boys just started on it, but there is only ten men on it, and it looks as if we don't have any more on it for some time.

Fraternally yours,

Eddie Blee,
357 Grand River, Detroit, Mich.

GIVE US MORE LIKE HIM.

In introducing a Labor Legislator to the I. B. E. W. we must with pride point out to the facts that very few come from our own ranks.

The Hon. James M. Meade when elected to the Assembly to represent the 4th Assembly District of Erie County, New York assured the Labor Organizations that he would be on the alert for all Labor measures brought before the New York State Legislature and has kept his promises.

He has been of valuable assistance to all Labor Organizations throughout New York State, especially has he rendered his assistance to Local Union No. 41 in holding up the passage of the Master Electricians Bill introduced through the efforts of the Electrical Contractors Association of New York State.

THE HON. JAS. M. MEADE, MEMBER OF ASSEMBLY 4th DIST OF ERIE COUNTY, N. Y. MEMBER L. U. 41.

L. U. NO. 69, DALLAS, TEXAS.

This Is the Splendid Advice Given by Governor Ferguson During His Labor Day Address at Dallas—Occasion One of the Greatest in the History of the City.

Editor:

This year's Labor Day celebration was one of the greatest ever held in the city of Dallas. The event was held at Fair Park and over 10,000 persons were on the grounds. Everybody seemed to have a good time and the order was splendid. It was a gathering of honest working people and their many friends, and the program was as varied as it was pleasing. The amusement features were in full blast and red lemonade much in evidence. The grand stand was a sea of humanity and high-class union musicians kept the air filled with melodies and marches.

Grand Ball at Night.

The ball, which was held in the Automobile Building, lasted until a late, or rather, early hour next morning. About 500 people participated and to the entrancing union music furnished, had a delightful time. Two gold prizes were awarded to waltzers. The first of these went to Mrs. Bertie Johns and Fritz Bernier and the second to Mrs. Easterling and Sam Frankle. The judges were A. Gattner, E. W. Speers and Billie Dalton. J. H. Plunkett was floor manager and Charles Mahoney director of music.

Governor Speaks in the Coliseum.

The main feature of the occasion was the address of Governor James E. Ferguson, in the Coliseum, which was delivered in the presence of a vast throng that cheered his grand utterances repeatedly. W. A. Goode was general chairman and he introduced the speakers. Mayor Lindsley was first introduced and said in substance: "It is right that labor should celebrate today, among other things, a victory of peace unequaled in modern times, there being, in fact, few events in the history of the world with which it may be rightfully compared. Through the patriotism and wisdom and his splendid conception of what constitutes true Americanism, Woodrow Wilson has made every American raise his head high, not in defiance of any European power, but because the recognition of a righteous position has been secured.

"Capital is consoling itself with a false security when labor is not prosperous and content. The time must come, if civilization is not a failure, when no man willing to work will be unable to find work for his hands to do. A man without opportunity to labor at gainful pursuits is a liability to society, and society, through the earnings of others, must take care of him. When he has work he becomes an asset.

"Wealth and power do not create happiness. The greatest gift of God to man is the right to toil for a fair compensation; the right to earn and to have a home all his own and to have to preside therein the woman of all the world who is his heart's choice; the right to give children the things that make life good and great; the right to help a fellow-man; to live contented in this world and the hope of the next."

When Chairman Goode introduced Governor Ferguson the State's executive was given a great welcome. He proceeded in a splendid manner to declare his belief in organized labor and its necessity. Before doing so the speaker made a few remarks anent woman suffrage, saying "Married men will agree with me that their wives are the rulers at home and when they set their heart on anything they usually get it. If they want to vote, let them vote."

These remarks caused much laughter.

During the course of his remarks the governor warmly commended the erection of the Dallas Labor Temple, which he declared every business man should feel the same interest in as the trades unionist. He declared its completion in due time should be a matter of as great concern to the business and financial leaders of Dallas as the erection of a building for a great denominational university.

"As labor is the only commodity many men have to sell, as it is their sole property, so to speak, and as they must gain their livelihood by its sale, it is as much the duty of the Government to prevent the confiscation of labor as the confiscation of any other kind of property," said the Governor. "The man who takes more than a reasonable profit from the labor of the workman commits a crime against good morals, and in a degree strikes a blow at the foundation of society.

"As a matter of fact, when you talk of the right of labor to contract, the laborer does not sell his labor for less than it is worth because he so desires, but because he must do so. The argument of contract can never be invoked where both parties are not in position to act independently; any other condition would be under duress and is denounced by every elementary principle of law.

"Perhaps the real needs of labor have not received that attention to which they are entitled. Without presuming to give advice, I shall say that the demagogue and the political red flagger are the most dangerous enemies of the laboring men and organizations. They should not be permitted to enter the union ranks, much less to be the guides in their councils.

Fifty-four Hour Law.

"I would rather have it said of me after I am gone that I had provided a way to put shoes on the feet of children, to give new dresses to the faithful wives, to put hats upon the heads of romping boys and girls, to make the working places of our men and women better than to have my praises sung in the future as the world's greatest orator. I would rather write a fifty-four hour law for the improvement of the condition of working women than to have written a poem.

"Organization is necessary for human progress. Even the inspired word of God required the church organizations before it reached the widely scattered Nations of the earth. Railroad systems recognized this principle years ago and organized. So long as they do not use that organization to depress the just demands of labor and to levy unfair charges upon the people they should be encouraged. For it is only through close cooperation that economical and efficient service can be maintained.

All Should Join Union.

"Labor must organize. Let me plead with every man who earns his living by honest toil to join some union. You can be just as honest outside as inside of a union, but you will accomplish nothing by yourself. If you have more sense or influence you ought to join the union to give your fellowmen the benefit of your talent. If you have less sense than the average, come in and let the union help you.

"The laboring man of today is learning and should learn that he should have a voice in governmental affairs. He is learning and should learn he has a right to a voice in the educational affairs of the State. The laboring man of today is learning and should learn there is an obligation resting upon him to uphold and maintain this Republic, destined to be the land of free, happy homes and firesides."

When Governor Ferguson declared every man should join the union of his trade he was given an ovation. A mighty shout of approval came from all portions of the vast Coliseum and the cheers were repeated again and again.

After he had concluded the executive was called on by a large number of people before leaving the stage and thanked for his grand speech, one gentleman assuring him that he was the first head of a State government he had ever heard come out so emphatically and nobly for organized labor. "I have but recently become a Texan, coming from old Tennessee, but let me assure you that at next year's primaries I will esteem it a pleasure to support you for renomination."

To one little boy who was introduced to him the governor said: "Little lad, some day the people may honor you as they have honored me by making you governor." It is unnecessary to say the boy's parents smiled most appreciatively.

While speaking of the value of organization the governor told this anecdote: "A German friend of mine declared the three best organizations on earth are the Holy Roman Catholic Church, the Standard Oil Company and the German army."

After being escorted over the Fair Park, including a visit to the fish hatchery, the distinguished visitor was taken by the Labor Council committee to the Dallas-Shreveport baseball game.

Basket Dinners Many.

A number of basket dinners were held at the park and hundreds feasted thus.

L. U. NO. 77, SEATTLE, WASH.

Editor:

An unpessimistic report of the working conditions in and about the Puget Sound country no doubt would be appreciated by those brothers who are contemplating traveling westward this winter. To them I would say, we never hang outside the sign of "No travelers wanted" even though we may be scratching the hills with the chickens.

During the past winter and summer, the public utilities have done very little work, by little work I mean, such work as is absolutely necessary to retain the good will of the commissioners, for you know in this country all an applicant has to do when refused utility service is to call up the Public Utility Commission and they will determine whether or not the refusal is just.

This fall has been the busiest that Seattle has seen for many months, while many estimates have been approved for new construction, and permission given to start work thereon, no authority has been given by the Frisco headquarters to put on any additional men, this in itself while not entirely satisfactory to us as a whole, has cut to the minimum, frequent lay offs. Aside from this activity, the installation department of the Telephone Company is reported to be receiving approximately 100 contracts per day which needless to say has resulted in not only a discontinuance of the lay-off in that department, but half a dozen additional men being put to work. The cause of this increase in contracts is said to be due to the State of Washington removing the $5.00 deposit (which by the way was found to be unsatisfactory, so the State has given the deposit another name, which is two months rent in advance).

When this article appears in The Worker, no doubt the convention will have authorized a live committee to meet with the final meeting of the Bureau of Standards, investigating and considering the advisability of making a uniform code on electrical construction. I would like to see each and every local take an active interest in this proposed "National Electrical Safety Code," as such a code will ultimately be the means upon which we will demand of the courts a decision based not from a professional view point, but rather from the view point of practical workers. The view point of a professional man is somewhat like the views of the representative from the Northwest Light & Power Company of Portland, who appeared before a meeting of the Bureau of Standard's Committee in Seattle last May, and in the discussion relative to labor and overhead construction laws, said in part that, "There is a species of linemen we have out here in the west that you have not come in personal contact with, Doctor, and he is quite a distinctive creature in himself." In answer to this the representative of the government said, "There is a sprinkling of those men, but you don't mean to say they will all be that way? Suppose there is one in two, can't you put an irresponsible man along side of a responsible man and therefore secure the elevation?"

I quote the above actual recorded words, to impress upon the membership the necessity of boasting for federal supervision or a federal standard in construction. It is likewise plain that from the viewpoint of the government a man is not judged from a dollar vision.

W. F. DeLaney,
Business Agent, Local No. 77.

L. U. NO. 90, NEW HAVEN, CONN.

Editor:

Please assist me to put before the world in general prima faci evidence of the fact that Local No. 90 has the most handsome, the most refined looking body of men that ever marched under an I. B. E. W. banner. The pictures were taken previous to the greatest Union Labor Day parade Connecticut ever had. Considering our numbers we certainly did ourselves proud that day, and the officers and workers of the union realized that the strenuous work of the last six months is bearing fruit. I don't mean to insinuate that this is the coming season, far from it, business in this district is better now than it has been for some time. Of course there seems to be more than enough men to do the work, but if any brother is considering the advisability of looking up a job here, we expect him to do the right thing, i.e., deposit his traveler with us and help out. So many men take advantage of our conditions by coming here and ignoring our existence that it makes it doubly hard to get those conditions established which would work to the mutual benefit of all concerned. We are about to try out a new agreement and indications point to success for us providing we all hustle.

Our records show a membership of 71, but there are still many to be gathered in the fold.

I wish I had the time to describe our part in the Labor Day parade, the float decked out as a power house, the feeders from it energizing four pole lines strung with bells and buzzers galore (they heard us coming) the mystery of the beer keg, of the boys who went to Savin Rock and proved to the management they knew better than him how to run a cabaret, etc., etc.

Yours fraternally,

G. Martin,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 104, BOSTON, MASS.

Editor:

At this writing most all of our members are working for a while at least, but hard to say how long it will last, but are in hope it will last for awhile at least, but still have lots of non-union men on jobs that belong to members of the union and is supposed to be a closed shop, but come as near being an open shop as any job around.

But our contract has expired and we have a new one drawn up, but at present they have not signed it, but are in hope by the next time I write we can report favorable and if we get all the conditions some of the non's will either get in or get off the job and give another man a chance that has a paid-up card. A contract is of no use to any local if it is not drawn up so as to hold the parties concerned to their agreement and it seems that was the trouble with our last one for every time a committee would go on any grievance they would point out some part of the contract where they had a right to do as they did.

We are also drawing up a contract to present to the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. and are going to try and get a closed shop with telephone, but at present we have not completed it and are still working on it and are in hopes of getting some good information from some of the locals in different parts of the country.

Well, as this month's Worker ought to be a big one I will stop so as to give some space for some good news. Would like to hear from the Press Secretary of Local No. 55 and hear how things are out that way.

Yours truly,

H. W. Shivers,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 116, FT. WORTH, TEXAS.

Editor:

I was elected Press Secretary at our last meeting. And I will try and let the brothers hear from No. 116 every month as long as I hold office.

To the best of my knowledge, we have never had a letter in The Worker, and I think it is about time to let you know that Ft. Worth, Texas, is on the map.

We are very anxious to hear what is going on at the International convention, and regret that the entire local could not attend.

Work is scarce here, and has been that way for a year and a half. The bunch is still fighting and hoping that work will be better in the near future.

We would like to see an organizer spend a few weeks in our city as I am sure that he could do some good here where we have failed.

Well, brothers, as this is my first attempt I will close.

Yours fraternally,

A. W. Pierce,
Press Secretary.

With the beautiful weather and business picking up, not an idle lineman in town, we are having very small meetings the last few months. I would like to see an article in the by-laws and constitution to wake up the dead ones and make them attend the meetings. They won't attend the meetings, but you can hear them

Brothers, we all know we will never accomplish anything without cooperation. My idea is that the tradesmen think too much of their own craft and they don't worry about others, whenever we can teach them to agitate the union label. It would not only make his local grow, but would assist others. The farmers in this section of the country have organized a union under the name of the Farmers' Equity Society and are affiliated with the without ear drum across the road in the booze joints telling what good union man they are and about all the good they have done for the Brotherhood. We had some Labor Day parade, there were eighty-five electrical workers out in line. All were out but a few. All the other days in the year these were such good union men, but would not get out and parade on the day set aside by the National Government on which labor celebrates. They would sooner sacrifice their fines before they would let some of the business men know they were union men. Brother Frank Keirnan was one of the marshals of the day.

Brothers, I am sorry I could not put anything in the September issue of our Worker for you to read, but I am not going to fail this month. There were several things I wanted to tell you about our picnic we had Labor Day and could not get the pictures to show you our bunch. We gave one of the grandest Labor Day outings Local No. 130 has ever witnessed. We went to Milineburg and spent a very pleasant day and all brothers satisfied with what went on. I never saw the boys in that mood in many years; this little petty jealousy was not the go-out there. Refreshments were served all the day until 2 p. m. when the regular dinner took place. We had our band play a march and about 100 brothers fell in line and marched to the table and were seated to a grand Spaghetti dinner.

tion fee of $10. Anything that you get for nothing is not so very much appreciated; also a brother 3 years in good standing to be admitted into any local without the difference in initiation fee. Brothers of Local No. 151 ought to have practiced what they are trying to preach.

I guess the fair is about over now and they want to jump Frisco so that is the reason they want to change the by-laws to suit their taste.

I remain,

Your fraternally,

A. M. Hull,
Press Secretary.

GROUP OF OUR BOYS OF NO. 130, WHO ATTENDED THE LABOR DAY CELEBRATION.

Marks, some of our prominent electrical contractors, visited the camp and was very well pleased to see the boys of 130 together as they were.

Mr. Richardson gave us a little talk on our union and complimented us to the highest degree. Mr. Abe Marks sang us a song to interest the crowd for which he was highly applauded.

Brothers, I want you to take a good look at our human baby, Elephant Bro. J. N. Nunez. He only weighs 280 pounds, who we have to furnish with a special step ladder to work on. He was the chief bouncer of the affair.

Here is also a group of the boys who attended the affair and was glad to say that they all went off pleased.

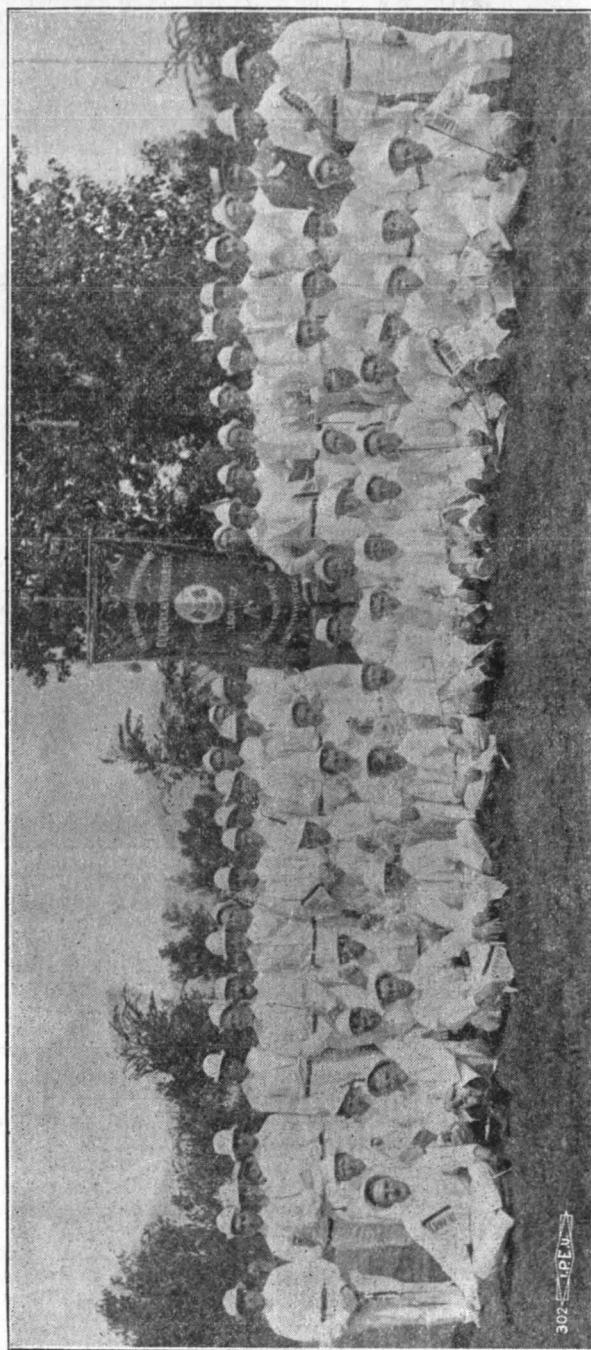

Brothers, I want to call your attention to a piece in our August Worker published by our brothers, Local No. 151 of Frisco, about having the alternative ini-

Editor:

Pleased to state "good times" are here and we have work enough to last us for some time to come. I sincerely hope "good times" will spread out over the whole country.

Don't forget to smile if some of your pet resolutions did not get adopted at the St. Paul convention. Remember there must always be victors and also vanquished. The victors would smile naturally, but if you are a good clean sportsman you will make an effort to smile also. Be a good cheerful looser and don't go around with a grouch and expression on you face like the chief mourner at a wake. I note that some of the boys who could not find time to attend the meetings during the summer season owing to attractions along the seashore drop in and give us the "once" oversign. They will stint themselves to pay back dues for I am informed that quite a few blew in all their spare cash on "fancy eats" (at war price) for some of the mermaids. A "good looker" who is all dolled up with the latest "gladrags" is a "great reducer of your bank roll." We have not heard from our St. Paul delegates and I sincerely hope they did not get arrested while at the convention or get "hooked in" on a stiff poker game and "get turned" so as they would have to "walk the ties" back to good old Boston. The three delegates to the American Federation of Labor at New Bedford must have had a good time from all reports. It is alleged that all the young ladies were calling our delegates by their first names. That is going some for a four-day stay.

Every meeting we take in one or two members, but we are going to "line up for an advance movement" and go out and get several of the boys who, up to the present, have rubber back bones and them in.

Don't be too hard on the Press Secretary. All you have to do is say you want to see your local in The Worker and insist that if they don't keep it before The Electrical Worker no one will know they exist and let me say right now that it pays to advertise your local in The Worker. Come on—boys and girls start right now and see that your local gets a "puff" in the next issue of The Worker.

For past two years I have coaxed Geo. L. Kelley to give me his photo, but never succeeded until he was handed the big roll of convention money and I assume like all persons who have come in to sudden wealth. He sent his picture to me and also to a few writers for the Social Pink Tea papers. I never realized Geo. was a "social climber." Kindly see that Kell's picture is inserted in next issue of The Worker. Jim Egan has been appointed to a $1,600.00 job by Mayor Curley and he will assume his new position on his return to Boston. Jim will have to give up his place on the conference board and if the boys knew he was going to accept the city job I don't think they would have sent him as a delegate to St. Paul.

Yours respectfully,

John J. Daly,
Press Secretary, Local No. 142.

L. U. NO. 163, WILKES-BARRE, PA.

Editor:

Read this, Brother Floater.

There was once a horse traveled a long distance. He finally came to some hay on which a dog was lying. He started to eat the hay when he did the dog began to snap and growl. The horse said, "Why do you growl at me—you cannot eat the hay." The dog said, "No, I cannot eat the hay, but I am going to lay on it you go somewhere else and find hay." Don't that sound like a letter from the worker, Brother Floater? Any time you have Wilkes-Barre on your mind get a good card and we will be glad to shake up the hay for you and find you some straw to lay on. We recognize the Floater who carries a good card has the backbone and ribs of the I. B. E. W. and the sooner other locals do the same the better it will be for them.

Work is not hanging on the street corners here, but most of our brothers are working. Some are on the road. If by chance you meet them, give them a glad hand and you will get one in return.

Brothers, keep an eye on the Public Service Commission. It will stand watching.

Brother Perreault, you have the right dope give us another dose.

Hats off and read the editorial. Thanks to the Editor. When you do knocking use a union label hammer. Open up. Brother Editor let us have it. It stings but we can stand it.

Hoping this finds a place in The Worker, I am

Fraternally yours,

D. J. Cooper,
President, Local No. 163.

L. U. NO. 182, CHICAGO, ILL.

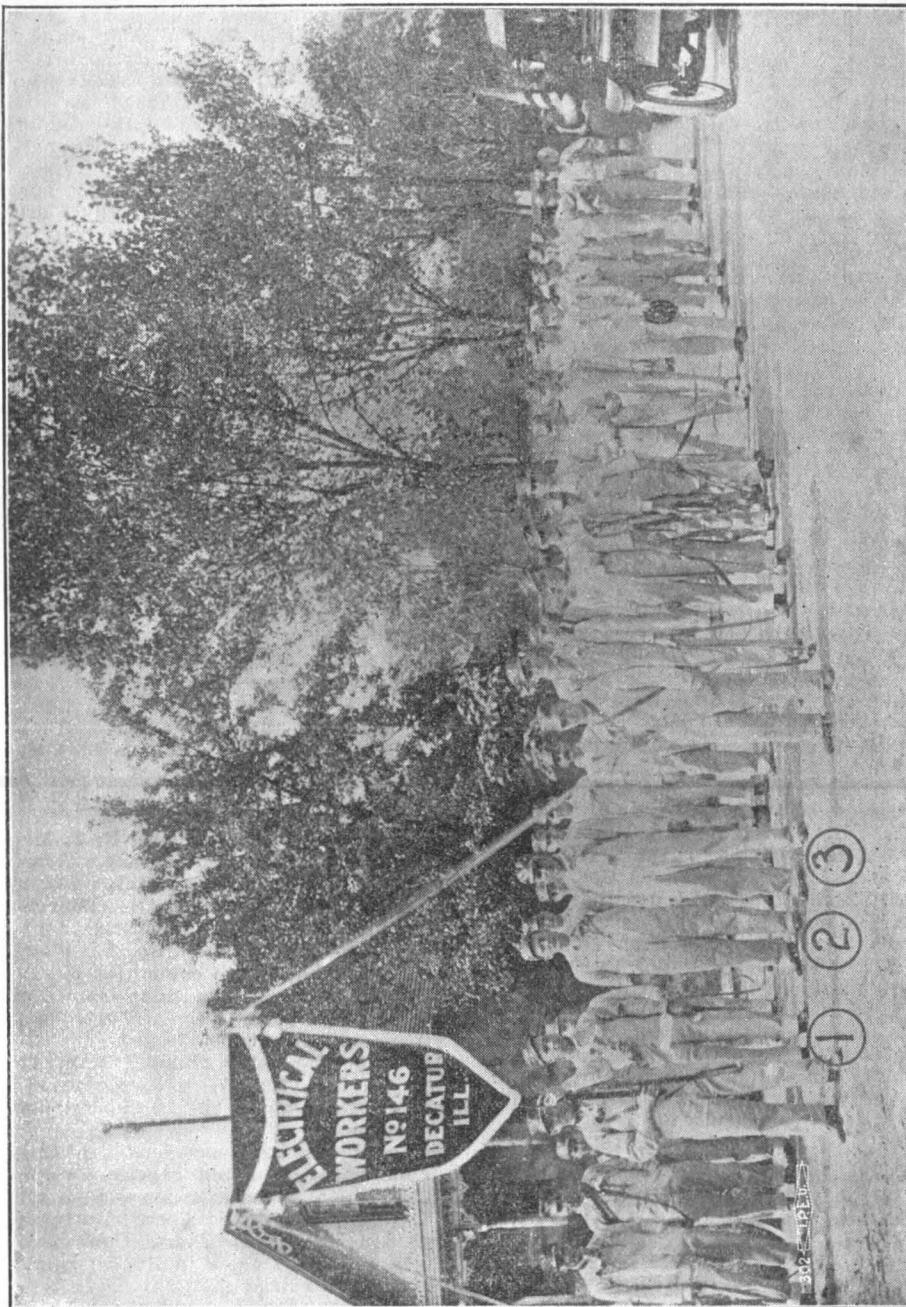

Editor:

My letter in the September Journal, I see the type setter has misplaced some parts of it, it probably was too long winded for him to set up. The bisected part should read as follows:

Our international President, F. J. McNulty, Mike Boyle, Ray Cleary, Alderman M. J. Healy of Local Union No. 9 and our Local Union officers, Thomas Cleary, H. Gaut, Wm. Devereux, John Evoy, J. Spaulding and Bro. L. Wolff went before the finance committee of the city council and got the eight hour law passed taking effect Dec. 1, 1915, etc., see page 116 September issue.

There is one other thing I want to touch on, and that is to organize all bridges throughout the International jurisdiction.

Some of the boys say how can this be done with out a big expense to the I. B. E. W. Well here is one way, if all G. L. organizers and Local Business Agents in localities where there are bridges will bring these in line, it won't take long. Of course the G. L. organizers are doing all they can, but the bridges are so far apart and the organizers are loaded down with so much other work that it is impossible to get around. Also I wish to pay tribute to the Boomer. Here is a tip for you. When you are carrying the Banner around and your slats are rattling and your teeth chattering and bones stiff from biting cold, and your stomach touches your back bone, go hunt up a bridge operator if he isn't a card man make it your business to see that he gets one. Your reward will be a nice warm place to hang your hat and something to take the slack out of your slats as I know from experience, the boomer makes one of the best organizers, especially if he has something at stake. By all working together it will add a few thousand members to the I. B. E. W. and keep them from straying away into some organization that can't do them any good.

I have a reason for wanting to see all operators carrying cards which I will explain later.

Fraternally yours,

Herman Wilke,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 193, SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Editor:

After skipping one month I find that the boys of "193", want a letter every month. Fill your office or get off the job, the motto. Our busy season preparing for the State Fair gave all the Brothers a job, and at this date, "193" has no members not working or none on the sick list.

Since last letter, Brother Colvin tore up some pavement with his motorcycle. Brother Good tried to put a Ford out of business with his sewing machine, but the C. U. Boy went him one better and tried to put a C. & A. engine out of business. We are still holding the Bell on the un-fair list.

Brother Hall has not yet returned from the convention. We have still kept up our reputation, and are annexing a few Brothers new members each month. Hoping local Brothers will over-look my last offense, I remain.

Yours truly,

W. C. Crammond,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 199, OSKALOOSA, IOWA.

This is my first attempt to write to the Electrical Worker. We are a small Local hardly noticed, but we have a few members who attend pretty good. But the biggest share don't seem to care whether school keeps or not.

Work has been scarce in this part of the country this year. Our D. C. President, Mr. R. E. Perrin was to visit us a few weeks ago, the first time since we took out a charter. I don't think it is right that our D. C. Officers don't get around a little more often than once in two years. I think too, that if our own members would take a little more interest in things and don't leave it all on one or two to do, things would look brighter.

Yours truly,

W. C. Porter,
Secretary and Treasurer.

L. U. NO. 211, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

Editor:

As our Press Secretary is on the way to the Convention, the Executive Board of L. U. No. 211 has requested the writer to send a letter in his absence so as the different members of the Brotherhood throughout the country can be notified as to the conditions prevailing in Atlantic City and vicinity. L. U. No. 211 presented their new working rules to their friends the Contractors to go into effect on September 15th, and we find that the Contractors with the exception of two will comply with the demands.

Local No. 211 request our friends the Traveling Brother to give Atlantic City a wide berth at present, as there is forty per cent out of work and some of our members are leaving for other places to get work. We have very good prospects if they materialize which will give the Electrical Workers and other Building Crafts a Boom on or about December 15th but not until then. You may read in the papers of several hotels to be erected and established but the most of it is pure bunk. You will note in the Notice Column that L. U. No. 211 has taken advantage of Article 14, section 8 of the Constitution.

Fraternally yours,

Harry H. Freed,
Business Agt. No. 211.

L. U. NO. 212, CINCINNATI, OHIO.

The small editorial in September Worker—Did you do your duty on Labor Day—Should make some of us sit up and take notice.

For the past two seasons Local No. 212 voted not to parade. The reasons members have for not wishing to join the mass of workers on that one and only day, annually set aside for the Toiler is something I cannot answer—perhaps the additional expense incurred in the purchase of a cane and pennant bearing the emblem of the Local body which they would represent has to be considered when the question is put to a vote. Whatever the trouble may be let us decide now, each and everyone of us (although it may be rather early to make preparations) to vote for and enter in line with the largest body of electrical workers ever represented in Cincinnati on Labor Day 1916.

I think it would be a good idea for the "Worker" to start agitating Labor Day parades and outings about June, 1916 so that when Labor Day arrives, at least those that read the Worker will have the fever and nerve enough to vote for a turn out.

The real spirit along these lines is shown by No. 639, Port Arthur, Texas, who being flood bound on Labor Day 1915, were forced to call off their anticipated celebrations, but instead of postponement until 1916, they arranged their own Labor Day for October 4, 1915, when "everything as previously arranged will be pulled off."

Shake hands No. 639—many a larger local can learn a lot by watching your actions.

I notice some of the Brothers in writing for the Worker are in favor of a few changes in its make up.

Now don't put me down as criticising our worthy editor for I do think that we have one good journal.

I do believe though that in addition to what is already being published we could set aside a few pages for something like Practical Hints by Practical Wiremen. There is now published a column as Practical Hints, but my idea would be to get out something not quite so deep which would be more help to our average apprentice.

The Electrical Review runs a column of Wiring Kinks furnished by its readers and each subscriber who sends them a "Kink", if it is accepted and published, gets in return one dollar.

Now I am not agitating this in favor of the Press Secretary by any means, but let any member of the brotherhood send articles to the editor which are practical experiences and have them published with the originator's name and Local attached, the more the merrier, paper is cheap and if the present journal would not hold it let us have a larger one printed. It is a safe bet that a good many articles printed would be a benefit not to the apprentice alone but the journeyman also.

It seems as though Cincinnati is just one thing after another. One week a convention and next a dedication of some description—then a few parades etc.—and who did we have with us some few weeks past but the pompous Court Street Carnival which was conducted in such an orderly manner—approved by all our Civic and Welfare Associations—that the police were called in to put on the soft pedal before we all had a chance to get in on it.

Much should be said of the representation of No. 212 at above Carnival. The Press Secretary dropped in on his way home from meeting and for a few minutes thought he was at the St. Paul Convention as about every other person he met was carrying a ticket out of No. 212. Finally working his way through the multitude to get as close as he could to the high diver trying to find out if he also carried one of our tickets—but alas the plunge was made, and diver disappeared through the crowd before any one could get near enough to question him.

There were faces present that night that would do your eyes good to look upon. Members whom I thought had long ago deposited their cards in some foreign country were there all lit up and they told me that they were still patching wires in dear old Cincinnati.

I think if Local No. 212 would take the trip and engage the services of The Fair Snake Charmer—Salome Dancer or some other novelty attraction on Wednesday nights to pull off a few stunts during meeting, we might boost our attendance considerably.

I must say though that our last meeting in each month is a corker and one well worth attending as our members all aim to attend that one meeting.

What's the matter with having a couple of good meetings each month boys? Forget yourself next month and come twice or three times and see if you don't profit in more was than one by it.

Well I think I had better put away my hammer until next month.

Work our way is still dull if any traveling brother drops in on us and fails to connect don't lose courage as we expect better days soon.

With best wishes to the I. B. E. W.
I remain,

Fratnally yours,

E. Simonton,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 221, BEAUMONT, TEXAS.

Editor:

I guess it has been a long time since the Worker has heard from 221, but there is not much to say at the present writing. All the boys are still working full time since the big storm of August 16th and 17th. There are a few of the companies that could use one or two first class hot wiremen; no other need apply.

We have not had any floaters so far this year which is a good sign that all the boys are working; but floaters you are welcome any old time you journey this way.

Our meeting time has been changed to the first and third Saturday night at the same old place. Brothers when you are in town don't forget the day.

The boys with the B. E. L. & P. got a 25 per cent raise the other day without asking for it. I guess that isn't bad after all. We have had some very good weather since the big storm and no one has lost any time that wanted to work.

On Saturday, October 2, the Light Company had a telephone call from a big cop saying that a man was burning up upon a pole. They shut the plant down and summoned the pull motor, ambulance, and the entire gang to answer the call at breakneck speed. Upon arriving, they found it to be a Bug Hunter for the Telephone Company upon a circle top sleeping off a jagg. Upon being awakened he got very sore and wanted to know what all the excitement was about. Now what do you know about that for a lineman?

L. U. NO. 255, ASHLAND, WIS.

Editor:

This will be the about the first time since Local 255 has been heard from. The Press Secretary as well as the rest of the members of the local received a jacking up so we had to get on the job.

Well brothers work has been plenty in this region. The Lighting Company has been building a new power plant, and E. T. Dupont Powder Plant has been doing a good deal of construction and employing a large number of electricians.

At present Local 255 has one brother on the sick list. Brother Kouker fell from a 40 foot pole sustaining painful injuries. Brother Kouker is improving lately and it is hoped he will be back on the job in a short time.

Local 255 was well represented at the convention at St. Paul by brothers Sharp, Bartz, Felsten and Talaska. All members of the local are being employed at present and we expect to take in a number of new ones at the next meeting.

All the members are busy at the present building sign and electrical effects for the ninth annual ball, which we hope makes a grand success.

Well too much is too much so we close, hoping that our first and maybe last will be in on time.

Yours respectfully,
Chester Margaman,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 258, PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Editor:

Well Brothers, I am able to repeat conditions around Providence as improving a little. It seems as there is no such thing as a floater if so they never strike our burg out this way.

Well perhaps they cannot be blamed for they may have heard of the conditions that exist around Little Rhody, but perhaps if some of our Brothers happened out this way they could see what kind of material that Local Union 258 has to work on.

Well I have drifted away from my story let me say that Narragansett, Pawtucket, Attle Light and last but not least Western Union, all are looking for men.

Well I think I have been popping off about enough for this time.

Fraternally yours,

R. L. Barnes,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 272, SHERMAN, TEX.

Editor:

The article in the August Worker on Postalization of Telephones and Telegraphs, was a good one, and brought out some points that are worth a close study, especially by those of us who are directly interested in that part of the electrical business. The author drew a vivid word picture of the postal carrier loaded down with parcels post packages and bundles, a veritable dray load, quantities such as express companies use a two-horse team and wagon to deliver. This is no exaggeration, and if you doubt it step out any day and watch the great benefit the parcels post has been to the people, but looking at it from the carrier's standpoint it certainly is no gravy train. A similar picture of a drop wagon crew hoofing it down the street carrying their ladders, wire, telephones, tools, etc., is not very inviting, to say the least, but might be just as true to life if Uncle Sam were "pushing the gang." Of course we don't know exactly how he would solve the transportation question; he might be generous enough to supply us with a squadron of "Irish buggies," or even some gasoline wagons; he might even go so far as to make the business "a thing of beauty and a joy forever;" but his treatment of the mail carriers, for instance, has not proved it. So our old side kicker, Will-yum Shakespeare used to say, that is what "puzzles the will, and makes us rather bear those ills we have than fly to others that we know not of."

On the question of wages the government is known to be not over liberal, and it is a well known fact that in many departments the employees, and often the officials themselves do not receive as large a compensation as they might get for the same ability under private or corporation employment. But they have a steady job, they know what their income will be for the year and can figure expenses accordingly; and since their work is more or less of a routine nature they get in a rut and it is easier to stay in than get out. The government system of working becomes a habit with them, and their senses become less alert to new opportunities which they might see if they were depending on their wits to hold a job. And then, the job they have was so hard to get that they don't like to lose it. They had to fill out a bunch of application papers as long as a rainy day, tell everything about themselves and their ancestors, all the jobs they ever held prior to making application, with dates and names of past employers, and a lot of other items to numerous to mention. Then they had to appear on a certain date at some place more or less remote to take an examination, and there they sweat blood, unless they had been previously coached by one of the many "Civil Service Schools," which fatten off the poor benighted who crave a government position.

The author of the article is just right when he says that the present age limit and other rules would prevent a good many of those now in the business from entering the government service. If you doubt it, just write to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and ask for application blanks covering some position you think you would like to have. Then you can see for yourself what it takes to get the job.

Of course there are many good government jobs now, and would be many more if the government owned the telephones and telegraphs, but who would get them? As the author says, "Experience counts little, education counts most. A man with a college education and two years' practical experience is rated higher than a man with 20 years' experience and a common school education." No doubt the present civil service plan of employment would work out all right if all of us were fortunate enough to possess the necessary educational and other qualifications, and were under 35 years of age; then it would be a fair shot for everybody. But some of us do not hold the said diploma, and others of us were born too long ago; some are slightly disabled but still in the ring, yet could not pass the rigid physical examination which the government requires for men engaged in active work. Some might get better jobs than they now have, others wouldn't get any at all; and there would be many strange faces in the old accustomed places on the morning when the new boss took the job.

Now wouldn't it be better for us first to direct our energies toward getting some laws passed which would insure us government protection in sickness and old age before we make ourselves dependent on the government by voting for it to own the business by which we live? It is estimated that there are 220 thousand people employed by the telephone companies in the United States. What per cent of that number could continue in the business under the present civil service rules and regulations? What about those who could not? These questions, and many others will have to be answered if the project goes through, and so long as it is agitated there is a chance that it will go through. Let us be sure it is a good thing for us before we give it our support.

Now a few remarks about Local No. 272 and I will close. We are in a fairly prosperous condition, every member working and have practically closed shop conditions, and every job in town except Mother Bell, and—well you know even a sewer has its good points, and serves a purpose. You can stick your head in one for 30 minutes and when you come out you will know more how to appreciate fresh air.

So far we have not placed in effect Section 8, Article 14 of the Constitution, and hope we won't have to. Every now and then we help a traveling brother with a paid-up card to three squares and a flop, and are always glad to meet one with a paid-up ticket. Have had no serious accidents the past year, and very little sickness, and hope we can make out until times get better. Have some good meetings, and a fairly good attendance, with an occasional initiation, so have no complaint to make to any body.

Our best wishes go to all Locals and Brothers who are working to make the I. B. E. W. stronger and better.

Fraternally yours,

Otto Dean,
Recording Secretary.

L. U. NO. 313, WILMINGTON, DEL.

Editor:

Being the newly elected Press Secretary of Local No. 313 I will endeavor to let the brothers hear from our vicinity. Work is very much on the bum owing to the brothers getting laid off at the Powder Company.

There are several other jobs in this vicinity as to what they are doing I cannot say but have heard they are paying 30 cents for two hours. No one seems to be interested enough to try to organize these jobs.

Baldwins Locomotive Works are doing a great deal of electrical work at their Eddy store plant which is out of 313's jurisdiction. We have written to Locals 98 and 21 of Philadelphia but up to date have heard no reply. I suppose when the job is about completed then the men will want something done in the way of conditions. 313 about a month ago took a boon and a great many were greatly enthused and some of the stragglers were roped and branded, both lineman and wireman. Of course excursion rates appeal to some. It seems in this local like a great many more of its kind. The members will not attend the meetings. This applies to wireman and lineman alike and then cry that the lineman are running the local. Of course we who have been members any length of time realize some one has to do it and as a rule the lineman is the fall guy. He will pay the freight, fight for conditions for every one else but when it comes to his conditions and welfare he has nothing to say in this town. Nine years ago the light payed $2.75 for 9 hours; today $3.00 for the same amount of hours straight time, for overtime and holidays. Now let us hope in the next 9 years the brothers will see fit to (ask at least) for 25 cents more.

Should James Mackey see this letter, kindly write our Financial Secretary, as there is one dollar to his credit owing to a mistake in regard to September dues. Traveling card did not expire until Sept. 30, 1915, issued by local No. 21 and No. 313 accepted dues also for September. Our last account of Brother Mackey and Billie Hunt were they had started for England on board a cattle boat but went ashore in vicinity of Easton, Pa. We hope you enjoyed your trip and did not get sea sick.

I understand the Westinghouse Electric are going to build a plant at New Castle, Del. Have not heard the particulars. The Brewery workers and machinist are still on strike in a number of the large machine plants. These strikes are like a great many others of their kind, affiliated with the A. F. of L. One craft fighting and others working. The sooner the workers get together and the concern of one be the concern of all then there will be no need of strikes, there will be no need of blood shed for the workers. To get a near existence let us hope that the Electrical workers will work as one unit instead of cutting each others throat as they have done and are now doing.

At this writing we have not heard as to what took place at our convention. Hope to by the next time for a little to our Journal. There is one thing should be done in the way or organizers and instead of having two thirds wireman as organizers split it to half and half. The lineman are at least entitled to that much; also the jurisdiction which from time to time has been given or taken until to-day in a number of our large cities a lineman has no right to do anything but climb a pole.

In conclusion will hope the editor will find space for our few lines and will spare the Blue pencil as much as possible. Wishing all brothers success for an industrial instead of craft organization.

Bert Gallagher,
Press Secretary.

Editor:

They say that lightning does not strike twice in the same place, but to prove that "Jersey lightning" is not included in that saying, we are here again with another letter for The Worker.

The members of No. 358 have noticed with pleasure the great improvement in The Worker, and in their behalf, I want to congratulate the Editor and contributors for giving us a magazine that we can read with interest from cover to cover.

Brother Peterson made the remark

the other night that The Worker was getting to be "some paper," and why shouldn't it be the best "Labor Journal" in existence? We have thousands of members all over the country and if they haven't got the brains to make this a great paper, where will you find brains? And I claim that a man must have something on his mind besides his hat to be an electrician.

But, brothers, even an electrician can't be a good Press Secretary unless you fellows attend the meetings, and get up on the floor, declare yourselves and give a fellow something to write about. Don't think because you pay your dues regularly, that you are a good union man. You must say something on the floor, before anyone will believe it.

I almost forgot to tell you that Brother McDonough won the set of "Mephisto" bits that we raffled off at our last meeting, so you see that if work gets slack this winter he can get a job in a bakery drilling holes in doughnuts.

I am sending you a picture of our float in the Labor Day parade, a full fledged D. C. power plant actually furnishing light for the signs on each side of the float, which won second prize. All branches of the trade were represented and up in front is our esteemed Business Agent, Brother Betts, sending the S. O. S. signal to some bartender as it was a very hot day.

With best wishes to all the members of the Brotherhood, I am

Fraternally yours,

M. J. Ryan,
Press Secretary.

Editor:

Our valuable journal is received each month and read with pleasure by the members of Missoula Local No. 408, and the boys remarked a few meetings ago that it had been some time since an article has been submitted by us, a fact which we sincerely regret, knowing as we do that our Journal has done a great deal in helping us to secure numerous good and worthy members. As an apology for our negligence, we can only say, our local secretary is a busy man, always being called to find trouble when he has on his mind an interesting article, as for the rest of us, we do not feel as competent in this line as our worthy brother and would feel slighted if our offerings did not appear, even out of place among the numerous fine articles submitted by our other brothers better versed in journalism.

Conditions pertaining to Local No. 408 and the good of the order in general have greatly improved during the past couple of months. The local boys all seem to be enlivened by that spirit of fraternity, which has increased our membership from 34 to 120 in so short a period and we still maintain that we will increase this number to the 200 mark in another two months, a fact that is partly attributed to the electrification of the C. M. and St. P. Ry., through our District, but mostly, they employing numerous workmen who are justly entitled to membership with us, yet the condition which actually secured these members for us, is that fraternal spirit which is predominating in our local. At this time the Company installing the electrification on the above mentioned road is badly in need of electrical workers and any brother able to meet the requirements in this particular line are at a liberty to address our local for particulars. The rate of pay on this work being $4.25 and the prospects are the work will be pushed on to the coast requiring several months. Our card is recognized by the company in charge, also by the Montana Power Company, Missoula Light and Power Co., and the Montana States Telephone Company of our city, a fact that we as Brothers are proud of.

We hope to at some future date not far distant to submit an article of interest covering the Electrification of railroads and general conditions in and about our District, knowing as we do that the development and completion of electrifying of the transcontinental railroads through our territory is only a question of time, considering that a vital consideration leading to this electrification is the rapid development and physical consolidation of a number of the hydro-electric power plants in territory tributary to these railroads.

Everything considered Missoula local is looking forward to a boom and better time and those considering a visit to our District should come prepared to stay and we want you to feel that we are only too anxious to answer any and all questions of importance, health and climate conditions, which we may add are unsurpassed and working conditions that are not surpassed. Closing with our best wishes for the good of the order and trusting we can advise that we have reached the 200 mark in our next offering, with best wishes to all from Missoula Local No. 408.

Fraternally yours,

Press Secretary.

I am glad to report that we are beginning to feel the effect of better times and that most of the boys are working which makes the prospects much better for the coming winter than they were last year.

There is not much news of interest to labor to report except a rumor published recently to the effect that the employees of the city administration departments are thinking of organizing to protect their interests, which is quite significant in itself, but whether it will ever amount to more than a rumor is hard to say.

Hoping to have more to say next time, I am

I was elected to the office of Press Secretary last July, but I believe I have not written a letter yet. I suppose the members of this local have been searching the pages of The Worker for a letter from their scribe.

It seems to be a common fault of all Press Secretaries to be lax in their duties and I am in line for a reprimand along with the rest of them. So many letters I read in our Worker from various places have the same doleful tune to the words of nothing doing in our midst, and I regret very much to have to join in this lamentation, but nevertheless I speak the truth when I tell you that work is scarce here. I would much prefer to offer more encouraging conditions, but I do not wish to give out any misleading statements.

I would rather be boasting than knocking at all times, but when I am compelled to tell the plain truth I do not consider that I am knocking.

The phone companies are operating with as few men as possible and the Gas and Electric Company has reduced their force to a minimum and as there is scarcely any building being done now, there is no demand for inside men. How long this state of affairs will continue I know not but hope it will be of short duration.

The P. T. and T. agreement has been submitted to the locals of the P. P. C. for acceptance or rejection and we are awaiting the result of the vote.

The attendance at our meetings is fairly good, but we have a large hall and plenty of chairs and for this fact I feel that the attendance and the interest of those present could be greatly augmented.

Our system of sending out notices of special meetings and special orders of business has a tendency to lessen the attendance of meetings because so many of the members think that if there is nothing special going on their presence is not needed and they wait until they receive a card of special meeting before they put in their appearance when they should be there every meeting night lest some special "stuff" should be pulled off and they did not get in on it.

We have a couple of members on the injured list. Bro. Geo. Fait, who sustained severe injuries from falling off a pole in Los Angeles, and Bro. H. C. Young, who was badly crippled in a motorcycle accident. Bro. Young is out of the hospital and is doing as well as could be expected.

Next month I will endeavor to write more and hope to have more favorable news to impart to you.

With best wishes for the success and betterment for the entire Brotherhood, I am

Fraternally yours,
J. W. McManaman,
Press Secretary.

Editor:

Well here, I am again—seeing that my last effort received space in The Worker, instead of crowding the waste basket. I will break forth with another "dab" of local color.

Our honorable delegate, M. J. Murphy, is now in attendance at the convention at St. Paul and we sincerely hope that Mike will be on the job (we know he will) for a greater and grander I. B. E. W.

I can see nothing but roses in the path of organized electrical workers, if every one gets out and helps to push the good old wagon up the hill. Remember, boys, we have been down the bottom for a long time and the harder we push the sooner we will be on top.

Brother A. H. Bell, Financial Secretary of Miama Local No. 467, is representing Miama at St. Paul and he will undoubtedly make good. No. 467 is crowded with hard working brothers and though we are a new local they can make a lot of the older ones. Look around and see them travel.

No. 579 takes great pride in the Miama Local as we feel that we are the parent local and any time No. 467 loses, we also suffer. When they move ahead we also advance, and believe me brothers. No. 467 has done nothing but advance since receiving their charter.

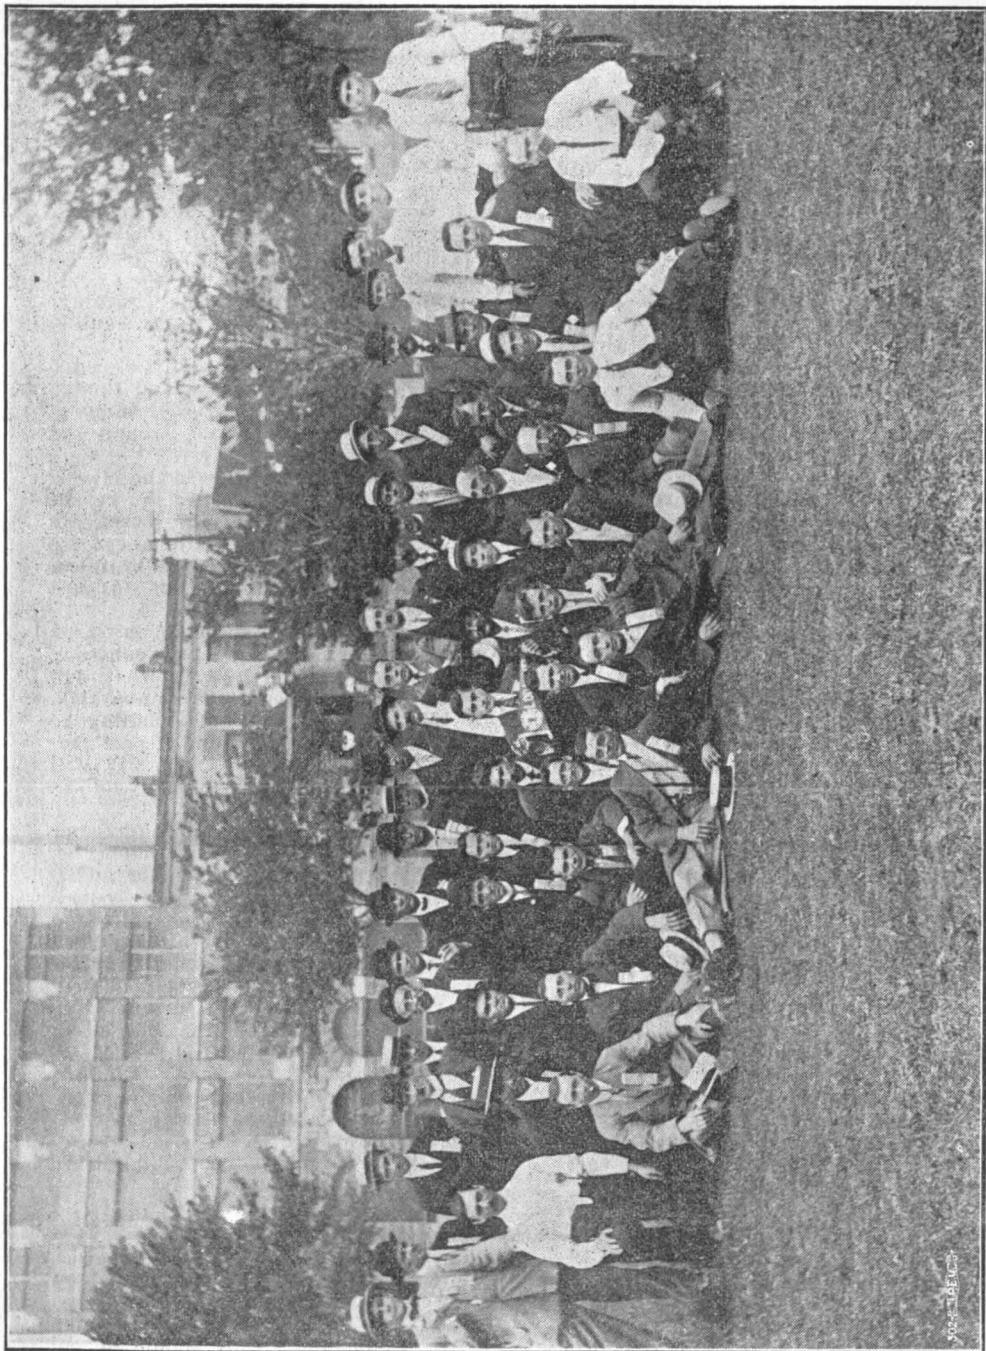

We are going to entertain a large amusement loving populace on Wednesday evening, September 22, with what will be known as the Electricians' Annual Ball. All the boys are out and hustling to make it a grand success and if past performances are a criterion No. 579 will increase their treasury beautifully on the 22d inst.

The Arizona State Federation of Labor will convene in Tuscon on October 4. This is the most important labor affiliation of all as through the State Federation we initiate all our labor bills and pass judgment on what has already been past, it is a sort of get-together body for the State and I believe great good will come from the meeting at Tuscon.

I have often wondered what became of the officials of the unaffiliated I. B. E. W. when the Brotherhood reunited. Did they just drop out of the limelight, or were they given other offices in the International? They sure were good "meal-ticket" fighters and should be taken care of by the Brotherhood.

I hope the convention at St. Paul will endorse the district council plan, as I believe we had made wonderful progress through our district councils. Nowhere can the Brotherhood show more progress than within the jurisdiction of the Pacific District Council and they should be encouraged as a great line of work is laid out before them.

We can thank the Pacific District Council for a reunited Brotherhood, and through its untiring efforts this western country will soon be the strongest body of organized tradesmen in the world. Do not think I am taking in too much territory when I say the world, as past work will show the gains made by the Pacific District Council, towards 100 per cent organized labor.

Well, brothers, enough has been said for this time, as we are all waiting for the convention report before turning loose an opinion pro and con on the good accomplished. From the aptness exhibited prior to the convention I feel that the next issue of The Worker will be crowded with letters of congratulation to the delegates in attendance and the wheels of progress will be safely placed under the big I. B. E. W., and we will glide along towards prosperity.

With brotherly love as the pilot and unity our watchword.

Yours fraternally,

E. D. Harrington,
Press Secretary, Local No. 579.

This is my first letter to The Worker, but, as it is all goods news, I hope it will be welcome.

Our local is coming on nicely and we can already boast of from fifty to sixty members.

We had a little difficulty getting the inside wiremen to join, but am sure you will, with us, be glad to know they are now coming in—two and three at every meeting. We meet every Tuesday evening and at each meeting have an average of 70 per cent present so you see the boys really take an interest in the work.

At each meeting we have some very lively discussions which go to show the spirit of enthusiasm with which the boys are filled.

Regarding working conditions, I may say they are favorable. We have two members out of work, but by the time this letter reaches you, I hope they will be working again. No special work in our line going on at present, so I am forced to say we have only work for regular quota of men in our district.

As our local is probably the "baby" of the Brotherhood, I must be excused for not having much to say but will promise to be on hand next month with a longer and more interesting letter.

Wishing the I. B. E. W. every success and with regards to all brothers, I am

Fraternally yours,

R. G. Calder,
Recording Secretary.

Well, Fellow Press Secretaries and Brothers, I gave you all a little surprise in the Journal by showing up my face. It came about this way. I urged our hustling Business Agent and now delegate at the Convention to get his picture and I would send same for publication and he did not or would not come through, so I sent your humble servant's along. So, come along Brother Secretaries, let's see what the "editorial" and writing staff look like.

I have not much to report this month and only add to my September letter that work conditions are still good and most all our members working at present and prospects for better conditions. By the time this reaches all our members our grand "Electrical Workers' Ball," to be held in the "Civic Auditorium," October 23d, will have come off and I will tell you about it next month.

This will be a big month for us out here as we expect many noted union men at the A. F. of L. and B. T. C. Department of A. F. of L. Conventions, to be held in San Francisco.

We will also have Mr. Edison on "Edison Day," at the Fair and other noted electric men.

I will give way to space to hear the reports of our Convention at St. Paul.

Yours for harmony and progress.

Fraternally,

A. E. Danielson,
Press Secretary.

We are just about out of the kinks again and I am very grateful considering what we have gone through.

As far as I know all of the boys are at work and we are also handling quite a few visitors at the present, but as soon as the storm work is over, work will decline a few points, for the majority of the work here is maintenance work.

We are getting a new member every now and then which is very encouraging and I will add here that we are expecting a 100 per cent local here in a short while.

Don't forget to look up, Brother Cady, if you should at any time pay us a visit for I am quite sure that he can give you all the necessary information to get by without tipping him. But if it takes that just let us know and we will gladly refund said tips.

Boys, that is one evil I wish could be stamped out of existence for in my estimation it is one of the dirtiest picks that can be pulled off. What we need is a more universal and systematic way of handling our visiting brothers. I don't mean that we should feed them on chicken dinners and carry them out riding, but if we find a brother worthy give him a helping hand, don't run off as if you were afraid that he would make a small demand. If you are in the business long enough and you are not blest with the very best of success you will at sometime need a helping hand. I sincerely hope that the convention disposes of this subject to the benefit of all concerned.

The very best success to all and the convention too.

Fraternally,

O. C. Smith.

L. U. NO. 655, WATERBURG, CONN.

Editor:

Please give me a little space to announce to the boys that there is another regular, sure-enough honest-to-goodness Local in existence. Sit up boys and take notice. This local is known as No. 655, outside men and is located in Waterbury, Connecticut.

When I breezed into this fair city, I thought at first sight that conditions were deplorable, but after finding a boss and getting into the thick of the fray, I discovered some very intelligent enthusiastic union men at heart. Very few had the goods and they belonged in locals elsewhere. I was surprised that these men, nearly all of whom are strong for Unionism hadn't formed themselves into a local. I became inquisitive, and here is the result:

They have had two locals here and for reasons which it is unnecessary to mention here, both had been disbanded. Naturally, the majority of them, who are good men but not pioneers in the labor movement became discouraged, and there you are.

Experience is a good teacher and these men have profited by it, so you can rest assured there will be no more flim flam locals here that are ready to run for cover at the first alarm of trouble.

One condition exists here that is to be found all over the world. The average laboring man, though he be well educated in text books, is entirely ignorant of the deeper phases of class struggle. He is aware that something is wrong, but he does not seem to understand just what it is, nor how to eliminate the trouble. There is a reason for it:—The Capitalistic Press has his mind poisoned!

Brothers do you know that the Merchants and Manufacturers Association have a strict censorship over all Associated Press News? They can color news of any labor trouble so it will put you, unconsciously, in sympathy with the employers. Please read the upper crusts report of the beloved, sweet-souled, philanthropic John Dees private owned labor organization, and then read a labor paper report. We all know that the dear angelic "Rockie" feels sorry for us—he surely pities our ignorance. I imagine his intestines twist in compassion like so many wriggly-worms when he hears of one of his dear loyal children being shot because he dared 'defy a dirty stenching gunman who must have been hired by some one other than his Excellency, "Rocky-Fellow."

From sublime to ridiculous. I will tell you some more about our local. We will elect officers at our next regular meeting. We will then send in a list of our official lay-out. Put us on your list, fellows and mail us a letter now and then.

With best wishes for the Brotherhood,
I am,

V. (Smokie) Taylor.

L. U. NO. 669, SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

With the September issue of the Worker at hand, am reminded that it is again time to get a letter ready for the next one.

Upon looking through the Worker each month quite a number of suggestions are noted, which if adopted would satisfy a long felt want in the I. B. E. W. Among the most important, I believe, are those relative to a legal difficulty benefit fund, and to a higher and more substantial life insurance; both of which are very necessary for the further betterment of the Brotherhood as well as for the protection of the members thereof. The maintenance of funds for these purposes would require but a comparatively small increase in dues, exceedingly small in fact, when we stop to consider how much it would mean to the whole organization were these respective funds realities to be depended upon, instead of possibilities yet to be accomplished. The Editorial in the September issue of the Worker deals in detail with the question of legal difficulty benefits, as we who are members of the I. B. E. W. see it, and should be read by every member of the Brotherhood. We all know how we stand as to life insurance.

Further observation, however, of the possibilities which these funds—did they exist—would suggest, brings to our minds the large number of electrical workers who are yet to be taken into the Organization. Think how much weight would be added to our arguments with non-union craftsmen if the legal difficulty benefits and the higher and more substantial life insurance were made factors of that argument. In true fact the room for argument would be eliminated. We would hardly want a man in the organization who would hold out against an offer of increased wages, shorter hours, strike benefits, good substantial life insurance as well as the good will of thousands of electrical workers all over the country. We have strength now but we need more and an opportunity is at hand which, if grasped, will do wonders toward that end. Everything possible in the way of improving our Organization should be done, having as our goal the making of the biggest and best organization of one craft in existence. These are important questions Brothers. Think them over!

Am wondering how many members of the Brotherhood read the Worker every month? And how many have subscribed for it in order to have it to read?

The Worker is a Journal which is edited and printed solely for Electrical Workers and at all times has their interests at heart. Let us, all who have not already done so, subscribe for our own Journal and get in touch with what the I. B. E. W. is doing. It only costs 25 cents a year.

What has become of over seven hundred press secretaries who are not being heard from? It's strange that out of nearly 750 locals only 33 got a communication in the September Worker. Let's try and do a little better next time.

We can say at this time that business continues about the same and that all the boys are working but as the slack season is approaching some of us expect to be out of a job by the time another month rolls around. We hope for the best, however, and trust that some of the work coming on will be let fair and so keep the brothers busy. One good job we should have had went to an unfair contractor and the others may do the same. There is a time coming though when we'll not have to worry about non-union contractors—here or any place else. That will be when the unorganized working people wake up and join the union. The monied interests are banded together against us, so why should some of us be so slow to get organized and so equalize the situation.

The boys here are looking forward to the work on a seven story hotel job which was started just recently by a construction company from Lafayette, Ind. Brother Jones, out of Local 668, will very probably have charge of the electrical construction since he is now on the job removing the wiring from the old building. At least a few of the local boys ought to get a share of this work.

Now, hoping to hear from ALL Locals through the October Worker, I am, with best wishes for the I. B. E. W.

Fraternally yours,

B. N. Silver,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 677, GATUN, PANAMA.

Editor:

In The August Worker there was a very interesting article on Postalization of Telephone and Telegraphs, which I think most of the brothers have read, inasmuch as the article made several statements in regard to the manner in which government employees were treated I thought perhaps a few words from the canal zone would not be amiss.

Without doubt conditions on the zone are exceptionally good, wages are high, wiremen get 65 cents an hour, operators get from $1,200 to $2,100 a year and supervisors and heads of departments in proportion. In addition to this we are given free rent, electric light, ice and fuel and hospital treatment if we need it, we also get sixty days' vacation each service year provided we have not lost any time through sickness, all time lost through sickness is deducted from our annual leave, unfortunately however, these conditions are not permanent ones as on July 1, 1915 the so-called Adamson Bill goes into effect, this bill provides a cut in wages, and charging for rent, light and fuel.

There has been a number of union and Brotherhood organizations on the Isthmus, affiliated with the corresponding orders in the United States, covering almost every branch of organized labor practically since the beginning of American operations on the Panama Canal. The force of organized labor for the betterment of working conditions and the maintenance of wage scales for its members is recognized by every one.

The results of organized labor and the lack of results of unorganized labor have been observed on the Isthmus during the construction of the canal as they have been observed elsewhere. In 1907 the revision of the wage scale was up for consideration with the chairman of the Isthmus Canal Commission and the Secretary of War. The efforts of certain organizations in presenting their side of the argument resulted in establishing longevity rates for certain classes of employees.

Longevity was not applied alike to all classes of employees on the canal, but only to those classes who had taken the trouble to work up data and interview the proper officials in behalf of the employees of those classes. The impression was prevalent at that time that longevity should have been applied alike to all classes or to none, and that impression has since become a firm conviction. The impression also prevailed that longevity was not extended to clerical and other positions because the clerical forces made no concerted efforts to impress the proper officials that longevity should be extended to them, and it was apparent that no concerted effort was made for the reason that the clerical and other forces had no kind of an organization to properly handle such a case for them.

There have been other cases where a lack of some kind of an organization to have properly presented the employees point of view of matters affecting canal employes as a whole has been plainly realized. The matter was clearly brought out recently when a mass meeting of employes was held for the purpose discussing ways and means for properly requesting a suspension of the executive order requiring employes to pay rent for quarters and to pay for light and fuel. This mass meeting was attended exclusively by employes who are members of different labor organizations. It was decided to send a committee of five to Washington City to explain to the Secretary of War the employes point of view and endeavor to induce him to recommend a suspension of the order at least until the end of the construction period, fixed by the Sundry Civil Act at not later than July 1, 1915. The committee that went to Washington consisted of four labor organization men and one member who was not an organization man, presumably for the reason that the labor organizations showed more interest in the matter than any other class of employes. Every employe was delighted when the information was sent out that the rent order has been suspended.

As free rent was a question that affected every canal employe occupying government quarters it was clearly a matter that should have been considered by an employe's association, which there was not. The committee of five spent some time in Washington, at considerable personal expense, before the rent order was suspended.

Upon their return to the Isthmus, the obligation upon the employes benefitted by the suspension of the rent order to reimburse the members of the Rent Committee was immediately recognized. Voluntary subscriptions from employes were solicited, but a sufficient amount to liquidate the total amount was not collected. A mass meeting of employes was then called to consider means for securing the balance of the money necessary to reimburse the Rent Committee. At this mass meeting the desirability of forming an employe's association for the purpose of considering such matters as affected employes as a whole was thoroughly discussed and the committee appointed to secure additional money for the rent committee was instructed to consider the formation of an employe's association and report at a later date.

This committee discussed among employes the desirability of forming such an association and meeting with much encouragement addressed a circular letter to all employes on the gold rolls of the Panama Canal & Panama Railroad Company, urging the formation of the Panama Canal Employe's Association and requesting written replys on a form furnished for that purpose. The object of the proposed association was said to be the formation of an organization of canal and railroad employes on the Isthmus to consider only matters affecting all employes as a whole and to use all honorable means to endeavor to have the wishes of the association on such matters incorporated in suitable regulations by the proper officials or legislature by congress. The letter further stated that two very important matters now interesting canal employes are:

1. The establishment of a wage scale by congress or at least such legislation as would prevent the reduction of present wages.

2. Official recognition by congress of Civil Employes who have served on the Isthmus with the Panama Canal or Panama Railroad Company during construction of the canal, with a suitable bonus reward for such services. In other words, recognition by congress, with a suitable bonus payment, similar to the recognition by congress of army officers for services on the Panama Canal.

The letter requested prospective members of the association to indicate their willingness to contribute ten per cent of one month's pay towards a fund for the association to cover legitimate and proper expenses in connection with an effort to secure such recognition by congress and the establishment of a permanent wage scale in case it should be desirable to send a committee of employes to Washington to properly present matters and urge suitable action. The replies to this circular letter were very encouraging some eighteen hundred employes having expressed their desire to co-operate with such an association. At this stage the committee that sent out the letter realized that there was a great deal of preliminary work to be done before attempting to organize such an association, and the committee addressed a second letter to all employes, through the local newspapers, requesting that a committee of seventeen be selected by the different towns for the purpose of doing the necessary preliminary work towards the formation of such an association, such as providing proposed constitution and by-laws and canvassing the field for suitable officers and committee men.

The seventeen delegates from the towns were elected and held several meetings to discuss the details and finally agreed that it was quite impracticable to conduct the affairs of the proposed association through regular meetings of its membership on account of the very large number of members the wide area over which they were scattered, and the further reason that there were no suitable meeting places large enough to hold such meetings. It was accordingly decided that the better way to conduct the affairs of the association would be to select a representative Board of Directors to take active charge of the management of the affairs of the association, and that the Board of Directors should have authority to make final decision on all matters affecting the association, and authority to arrange for the carrying-out of such decision. The committee of seventeen took the liberty of naming a board of twenty-six directors subject to the later approval of the membership and turned the affairs of the proposed association over to the director to handle.

The twenty-six proposed directors were notified of their election subject to later approval and the duties they were expected to perform. All of the proposed directors so notified accepted membership on the Board of Directors, and the directors met for the first time in the board room of the Administration Building, Balboa Heights, on July 11, 1915, for the purpose of perfecting the temporary organization. At this first meeting of the Board of Directors the plans and purposes of the proposed association were discussed extensively. A committee was appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws drafted by the committee of seventeen and to report at a later meeting. At this meeting the Committee on Constitution and By-laws was directed to provide for the following officers:

President, First Vice President, Second Vice President and the Secretary-Treasurer, after which the board proceeded to the election of these officers. The Board of Directors has held several meetings in the board room of the Administration Building. At the first meeting the Executive Secretary, Mr. McIlvaine, made a talk to the board in which he reviewed the present status of canal employes as affected by the different legislative acts, and concluded by expressing the opinion that the canal employes should be recognized by congress by a vote of thanks for the services of the employes on the canal work and by the payment of a suitable bonus for services.

This is a partial history of the formation and present status of the Panama Canal Employe's Association. There are a number of important items to be handled as soon as possible. One of these is to get in touch with every ex-employe and interest him in the association. It is assumed that ex-employes will be principally, if not solely, interested in the matter of securing recognition and a bonus payment for past services. It is also assumed that present employes who had not served three years prior to April to April 1, 1914, will be principally interested in the matter of maintaining the present wage scale or in having a permanent wage scale established by congress. The association is committed to both propositions and it seems that all employes, present and past, should be interested in the association and render every service possible to make it a success.

We have taken in several new members and accepted one traveling card and are looking forward to getting a couple more in the near future. We have some very good fishing here at Gatun it is the only place in the world where tarpon can be caught from the shore. It is an every-day occurrence for either Brothers Jimmie O'Neil or A. M. Boucher to catch three or four tarpon, weighing from seventy-five to one hundred and seventy-five lbs., in a few hours.

The canal is closed to traffic again due to slides in Culebra Cut they are the worst that have occurred since the canal has been in operation and at the present time there are sixty-five ships held up waiting for the canal to open up again. With best wishes for the advancement of the I. B. E. W.

Yours fraternally,

W. L. Laily,
Press Secretary.

L. U. NO. 712, NEW BRIGHTON, PA.

The members of Local Union No. 712 are at a loss to understand what Bro. Willox of Local Union No. 5, means by his statement in September Journal, about our members encroaching on other peoples jurisdiction and territory.

We do not know of any of our brothers working out of our own jurisdiction.

We have not been bothering No. 5 men working on the Midland Library Building and several others in our jurisdiction including Ambridge and Economy and who come here every week hanging fixtures, as long as they have good cards.

The jurisdiction granted us by the I. O. is Beaver County, which extends to Swickley Creek between Ambridge and Fair Oaks.

We have had some annoyance from members of No. 246 coming to Midland, but this has in a way been adjusted.

We have not been saying much about others coming into our jurisdiction especially from No. 5 for two reasons, first, we have had a good summer and at present all our members are working but one shopman, second, our scale is four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50) for eight hours and No. 5 is four dollars and sixty cents ($4.60).

We do not wish to start anything, nor do we want a fight, but just because we are infants we do not propose to take a slap in the face.

We have as good a Business Agent as is in the business and I think it is pretty nearly time he is instructed to enforce Section 7, Article 14 of the Constitution.

Since the first of September our numbers have increased by about four-score. With this splendid progress we find it necessary to hire more commodious quarters. Our next meeting, therefore, is to be held in a larger and much more desirable hall. We can not leave the old assembly room without a parting reminiscence of its predominant features. Who, that climbed them, can ever forget those endless flights of stairs, and the puffing and panting as the girls dropped into the nearest chairs. True there is an elevator there, but its ebony faced operator must belong to the Union for six p. m. rarely finds him at his post. Then the chairs! Those elusive, collapsible, mirth provoking pieces of furniture. Many of our sisters have been suddenly dropped in a heap on the floor while a sound of merriment interrupted our deliberations. This became such a regular diversion that some of the more weighty members of our fraternity sought safety on a settee which afforded a substantial, if not too comfortable seat. Such are our memories, and we hope to have many pleasant ones of our new home.

We are looking forward to a busy and successful winter with a most enthusiastic body of telephone clerks alive to all the possibilities which such associations as ours foster.

L. U. NO. 17A, PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS.

Editor:

Just a few lines from a sister local of Port Arthur, Texas. On account of being newly organized have been unable to get a letter in the Worker.

We organized under No. 17a and here's hoping its a lucky number, not lucky alone but with the help of pluck we may enjoy such luck and the members are of the class that endeavor to build up.

Our Brothers of Local No. 639 here extended us their help and support.

We are only ten strong but have the assurance promised us by our Brother Local and also the Trade and Labor Council of which we are affiliated.

If possible we would like to see a Sister Local in every city where there is a Brother Local. At least, we assure you that you would enjoy a feeling of delight if there were a Sister Local in your midst. Hoping the worthy Brother Local will advance this movement nearest as our Sister Local is very distant and by helping us you would be helping yourself as in "Union there is strength."

Fraternally,

Miss Claudia Whittington

I want to say to the members that personal contact with Brother Kiser convinces me that he is a man, and my home is open to him when he comes out on parole to come and stay until he is on his feet and squared away without charge. Again thanking you one and all, I am

Greeting:

This is to certify that I am well satisfied with the way Brother D. W. Bechtol has handled my case and that he has done the best he could under the circumstances and that the donations placed in his hands to the amount of $837.65 has been honestly handled and well accounted for as I am familiar with the expenditures.

I wish at this time to thank the members for their worthy support and trust that in the future I may be able in my feeble way to repay the kindness and support given me in my hours of trouble.

Editor:

As a delegate to the St. Paul convention, and interested in a reasonable high life insurance in the Brotherhood, and for the information of all concerned, I will quote the following plan that has been adopted, also the plan of total disability and incapacitated benefits, because both of these plans in my judgment work parallel with each other and to a great extent what apply to one apply to the others:

Funeral Benefits for United States and Its Dependencies.

ARTICLES XII, SECTION 1, PART 1.

"Every member in fellowship and in continuous good standing in the I. B. E. W. for one year or more but less than two years last past preceding his death, shall in case of death, be entitled to a funeral benefit in the sum of $100; except as provided in Sec. 3 of Art. VI. If the deceased has been in continuous good standing for two years or longer, immediately preceding his death, benefits shall be allowed as follows:

2 yrs or more, but less than 3 yrs.	$150.00
3 yrs or more, but less than 4 yrs.	200.00
4 yrs or more, but less than 5 yrs.	250.00
5 yrs or more, but less than 6 yrs.	300.00
6 yrs or more, but less than 7 yrs.	350.00
7 yrs or more, but less than 8 yrs.	400.00
8 years or more.....	450.00

Amended.

SECTION 1, PART 2.

Total Disability and Incapacity Benefits for United States and Its Dependencies.

"Any member who joins the I. B. at an age of less than fifty (50) years who becomes totally disabled and incapacitated from ever working at the trade, shall, if he so decided, receive in lieu of any claim to funeral or other I. B. benefits, the following amounts in accordance with the length of his continuous good standing:

1 year or more, but less than 2 years preceding his total disability and incapacitation, the sum of	$100.00
2 yrs or more, but less than 3 yrs.	150.00

3 yrs or more, but less than 4 yrs.	200.00
4 yrs or more, but less than 5 yrs.	250.00
5 yrs or more, but less than 6 yrs.	300.00
6 yrs or more, but less than 7 yrs.	350.00
7 yrs or more, but less than 8 yrs.	400.00
8 years or more	450.00

A payment of 75c shall be due from each member of the I. B. E. W. on the 1st day of January and the 1st day of July of each year, for the purpose of maintaining the Total Disability and Funeral Benefit Fund. Any member who fails to make the January payment before the 1st day of April following, or the July payment before the 1st day of October following, shall stand suspended, and without right to total disability or funeral benefit and the I. S. shall reject the per capita payments on such members until the member shall have paid the assessments to the Total Disability and Funeral Benefit Fund.

If any member shall have been suspended at any time for failure to make any payments to the Benefit Fund, or any other payment due the I. B., his continuous good standing shall date only from the time of his last reinstatement."

PART III.

Funeral Benefits for Dominion of Canada.

Section 1. Every member in fellowship and in continuous good standing in the I. B. E. W. for one year or more, but less than two years preceding his death shall, in case of death, be entitled to a funeral benefit in the sum of one hundred dollars ($100.00), except as provided in Section 3, ARTICLE VI.

If the deceased has been in continuous good standing for two years or longer immediately preceding his death, benefits shall be allowed as follows:

2 yrs. or more, but less than 3 yrs.	$150.00
3 yrs. or more, but less than 4 yrs.	200.00
4 yrs. or more, but less than 5 yrs.	250.00
5 years or more.....	300.00

A payment of fifty (50) cents shall be due from each member of the I. B. E. W. on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year for the purpose of maintaining the Funeral Benefit Fund. Any member who fails to make the January payment before the first day of April following, or the July payment before the first day of October following, shall stand suspended, and without right to funeral benefit, and the I. S. shall reject the per capita payments on such member until the member shall have paid the assessment to the Funeral Benefit Fund.

Report of Committee adopted.

The above plan in my judgment is not the best plan that can be operated by the Brotherhood, however, I realize that Life Insurance is a big problem and that the mortality rate and the per-capita revenue and assessments of the Brotherhood are the big factors, and must be taken in to consideration to solve it intelligently; and I am satisfied that for the present the conclusions of the law committee are well drawn, and sound; and if the suggestion in resolution No. 41 are carried out, the delegates to the next convention will have both facts and experience before them and be better able to judge whether or not the Brotherhood can operate a reasonable high life insurance for a reasonable per capita or assessment; and similar consideration will apply to the Total Disability and Incapacitated Benefit Plan.

The Difficulty Benefit Plan is a great piece of legislation and I am sure it will prove helpful to the Brotherhood in General.

The convention voted unanimously for full per capita vote for women, this is gratifying.

There was a great fight for the District Council Plan of Organization, and I was a rebel in the ranks, and I wish to state the Local Union that I represent is a mixed Local, and we are on record for the District Council Plan, because we believe that it is the best plan of organization that has been proposed to date, for organization in and about our immediate and surrounding territory, although we are not fanatics on this or any other matter, but a delegate can honestly, only take one side of every big question. However, I believe that the plan settled on in the caucus and presented by Delegate Burns, known as Proposition No. 1. If it was not the best plan it could be amended and so constructed on the foundation of common sense and made sound, and with that view in mind I voted and supported it to the finish, and I offer no apology because I would rather be defeated a thousand times fighting for what I thought was best, than to vote for something that I did not want and get plenty of it.

I am writing this letter at St. Paul, and the Convention has not adjourned yet.

Hoping that all delegates will arrive home safe and in good cheer, and forget the past and help to build up the Brotherhood to the One Hundred Thousand and more if possible before the next Convention comes around.

With success to the Brotherhood, I am,

Fraternally yours,
Anthony (Love) Lynch,
Press Secretary.

Elementary Lessons in Electricity and Magnetism

LESSON XXXII.—The Electric Light...

371. The Voltaic Arc.—If two pointed pieces of carbon are joined by wires to the terminals of a powerful voltaic battery or other generator of electric currents, and are brought into contact for a moment and then drawn apart to a short distance, a kind of electric flame called the voltaic arc is produced between the points of carbon, and a brilliant light is emitted by the white hot points of the carbon electrodes. This phenomenon was first noticed by Humphry Davy in 1800, and its explanation appears to be the fol-far more light than the arc itself, though they are not so hot. In the arc the most infusible substances, such as flint and diamond, melt; and metals such as gold and platinum are even vapourised readily in its intense heat. When the arc is produced in the air the carbons slowly burn away by oxidisation. It is observed, also, that particles of carbon are torn away from the + electrode, which becomes hollowed out to a cup-shape, and some of these are deposited on the — electrode, which assumes a pointed form, as shown in Fig. 137. The resistance of the arc may vary, according to circumstances, from 0.5 ohm to nearly 100 ohms. It is also found that the arc exerts an opposing electromotive-force of its own of about 39 volts when the arc is quiet, or 15 volts when hissing.

To produce an electric light satisfactorily a minimum electromotive-force of 40-50 volts is necessary; and as the current must be at least from 5 to 10 or more amperes, it is clear that the internal resistance of the battery or generator must be kept small. With weaker currents or smaller electromotive-forces it is impracticable to maintain a steady arc. The internal resistance of the ordinary Daniell's or Leclanche's cells (as used in telegraphy) is too great to render them serviceable for producing electric lights. A battery of 40-60 Grove's cells (Art. 171) is efficient, but will not last more than 2 or 3 hours. A dynamo-electric machine (such as described in Art. 407 to 411), worked by a steam-engine, is the best generator of currents for practical electric lighting. The quantity of light emitted by an electric lamp is disproportionate to the strength of the current; and is, within certain limits, proportional to the square of the heat developed, or to the fourth power of the strength of the current.

372. Electric Arc Lamps.—Davy employed wood charcoal for electrodes to obtain the arc light. Pencils of hard gas-carbon were later introduced by Foucault. In all the more recent arc lamps, pencils of a more dense and homogeneous artificial coke-carbon are used. These consume away more regularly, and less rapidly, but still some contrivance is necessary to push the points of the carbons forward as fast as needed. It is requisite that the mechanism should start the arc by causing the pencils to touch and then separate them to the requisite distance for the production of a steady arc; the mechanism should also cause the carbons not only to be fed into the arc as fast as they consume, but also to approach or lowing:—Before contact the difference of potential between the points is insufficient to permit a spark to leap across even 0.0001 of an inch of air-space, but when the carbons are made to touch, a current is established. On separating the carbons the momentary extra-current due to self-induction of the circuit (Art. 404), which possesses a high electromotive-force, can leap the short distance, and in doing so volatilises a small quantity of carbon between the points. Carbon vapour being a partial conductor allows the current to continue to flow across the gap, provided it be not too wide; but as the carbon vapour has a very high resistance it becomes intensely heated by the passage of the current, and the carbon points also grow hot. Since, however, solid matter is a better radiator than gaseous matter, the carbon points emit rcede automatically in case the arc becomes too long or too short; it should further bring the carbons together for an instant to start the arc again if by any chance the arc goes out. Electric Arc Lamps or Regulators, fulfilling these conditions, have been invented by a number into the arc by adding to the train of wheels a break-wheel; the break which stops the wheel being actuated by a small electromagnet, which allows the wheel to run forward a little when the resistance of the arc increases beyond its normal amount.

(c) Solenoid Lamps.—In this class of arc lamp one of the carbons is attached to an iron plunger capable of sliding vertically up or down inside a hollow coil or solenoid, which, being traversed by the current, regulated the position of the carbons and the length of the arc. Siemens employed two solenoids acting against one another differentially, one being a main-circuit coil, the other being a shunt-circuit. If the resistance of the arc became too great, more of the current of persons. These may be classified as follows:—

(a) Clockwork Lamps.—Fig 138 shows the regulator of Foucault as constructed by Duboscq; in this lamp the carbon-holders are propelled by a train of clockwork wheels actuated by a spring. An electromagnet at the base, through which the current runs, attracts an armature and governs the clockwork. If the current is too strong the armature is drawn down, and the clockwork draws the carbons further apart. If the current is weakened by the resistance of the arc, the armature is drawn upwards by a spring, and a second train of wheels comes into play and moves the carbons nearer together. Clockwork arc lamps have also been devised by Serrin and by Crompton, in which the weight of the carbon-holders drive the clockwork mechanism.

(b) Break-wheel Lamps.—Jaspar and Crompton have devised mechanism for regulating the rate of feeding the carbon flowed past the lamp through the shunt-circuit, and caused the carbon-holders to bring the carbons nearer together. Shunt-circuits to regulate the arc have also been used by Lontin, Brush, Lever, and others.

(d) Clutch Lamps.—A somewhat simpler device is that of employing a clutch to pick up the upper carbon holder, the lower carbon remaining fixed. In this kind of lamp the clutch is worked by an electromagnet, through which the current passes. If the lamp goes out the magnet releases the clutch, and the upper carbon falls by its own weight and touches the lower carbon. Instantly the current starts round the electromagnet, causes it to act on the clutch which grips the carbon-holder and raises it to the requisite distance. Should the arc grow too long the lessening attraction on the clutch permits the carbon-holder to advance a little. Hart, Brush, Weston, and Lever employ clutch lamps.
